Use Bharat in textbooks: Panel

NCERT committee suggests replacing India in all social science textbooks up to Class 12

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

OVER TO EDUCATION MINISTRY

- The recommendations have been shared with the education ministry; NCERT says no decision has been taken yet
- Panel also suggests replacing 'ancient history' with 'classical history' and introducing Indian Knowledge System for all subjects
- Oppn parties pan the move, terming it a bid to distort history

A panel set up for revising NCERT textbooks has recommended that 'India' be replaced with 'Bharat' in all social science textbooks up to Class 12. Chairperson of the committee, C I Issac, told this newspaper that the panel has also suggested replacing 'ancient history' with 'classical history' and introducing the Indian Knowledge System in the syllabus for all subjects. The panel has also suggested highlighting 'Hindu victories' in textbooks, evoking sharp reactions from Opposition paries.

"It was a unanimous decision to replace the name 'India' with 'Bharat' in the textbooks for students across classes," said Issac, who heads the seven-member social science committee. He added that the recommendations have been shared with the education ministry.

However, NCERT chairman Dinesh Saklani said no decision has been taken on the panel's recommendations.

'Bharat' was officially used for the first time when the Centre sent out G20 invites in the name of 'President of Bharat' instead of 'President of India'. Later, the nameplate of Prime Minister Narendra Modi during the G20 summit also read as Bharat instead of India.

On highlighting 'Hindu victories', Issac said: "Our failures are mentioned in the textbooks. But our victories over the Mughals and sultans are not."

The NCERT is revising the curriculum of the school textbooks in line with the National Education Policy. It recently constituted a 19-member National Syllabus and Teaching Learning Material Committee to finalise the curriculum, textbooks and learning material.

The panel chaired by Issac is among the 25 committees formed by NCERT in December 2021 to prepare position papers on various subjects.

Opposition parties panned the move. Congress leader K C Venugopal said: "You can see how they are distorting the history of India through the textbook, syllabus...For us, India and Bharat are equal."

DMK spokesperson Saravanan Annadurai said: "The BJP is resorting to name-change politics to divert the attention of people from its misdeeds."

Israel asks India to declare Hamas as a terror outfit

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

ISRAEL wants India to declare Hamas as a terrorist organisation, the country's ambassador to India Naor Gilon said on Wednesday. "We have communicated this to India. We are in dialogue with the government, it's a friendly talk," Gilon added.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi was among the first world leaders to condemn the October 7 attack on Israel. While India hit out at Hamas for the terror act, it later clarified that no alternative to the two-state solution can bring peace to the region.

As the conflict entered the 19th day, Israel is gearing up for a protracted war with Hamas. It is constantly hitting potential Hamas targets in Gaza while the ground offensive has been delayed due to "tactical and strategic considerations".

Israel Defense Forces (IDF) spokesperson Lt Col Peter Lerner said on Wednesday that the objective is to destroy Hamas. "A vast majority of areas are safe in Israel, but Hamas may try and infiltrate. So, we will have to destroy Hamas in its entirety," he said. Israel has roped in 3 lakh reservists for the ongoing war. The IDF's priority is to locate and bring back the 222 hostages who have been held captive by Hamas. Four hostages have been released so far.

On Wednesday, Israel's Ambassador to the UN, Gilad Erdan, said that they would deny visas to UN officials after a remark by Secretary General Antonio Guterres appeared to justify the Hamas attack.

Meanwhile, Gaza is running out of fuel and other essential items. Hospitals are low on fuel, which means if not replenished soon, there would be no scope for survival of patients in intensive care units.

40-50% BMTC drivers at risk of heart diseases

Erratic work hours, poor diet intake to blame

NAMRATA SINDWANI @Bengaluru

BENGALURU Metropolitan Transport Corporation (BMTC) drivers are observed to be at risk of cardiovascular diseases with 40-50 percent of them suffering from diabetes, hypertension and high blood pressure.

Dr CN Manjunath, Director, Sri Jayadeva Institute of Cardiovascular Sciences and Research (SJICSR), said the hospital has screened 8,200 BMTC drivers in the past 12-13 months for cardiovascular diseases. The hospital had signed an MoU with BMTC in August 2022 for screening the drivers for heart-related issues.

All drivers underwent a comprehensive health checkup with blood tests, cardiac stress (treadmill) tests, ECG and echocardiograms (ECHO). The findings from testing 8,200 drivers showed that 40 per cent of them were diabetic, 40 per cent suffered from hypertension and 62 per cent had high blood pressure. The tests also alerted the doctors about 5 per cent drivers who were already facing conditions like blockages in the heart. Around 35 per cent drivers were also found to be habitual smokers.

The drivers are prone to suffering from heart-related ailments due to erratic work hours, poor diet intake, lack of exercise and fatigue from continuous sitting during long journeys, Dr Manjunath explained.

Similar comprehensive health checkups are also being proposed to be extended to Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) and police personnel as they are also at high risk of heart-related issues.

With cardiovascular diseases contributing to 30 per cent of deaths in India, he said it is crucial to screen people at an early stage as it will reduce the mortality rate. It is important to screen BMTC, KSRTC drivers and state police officers as they have a high-stress job and also are exposed to air pollution on a daily basis which is another emerging factor linked with heart-related issues. Air pollution is not just solely responsible for respiratory issues, but inhalation of particulate matter less than 2.5 mg can easily pass through lungs and create blockage in the arteries.

Benefits on scrapped vehicles: Issues to be fixed

AKNISREE KARTHIK @Bengaluru

As the scrapping of old unfit vehicles has commenced at the state's first Registered Vehicle Scrapping Facility (RVSF) in Devanahalli, a top official of the state transport department said they are unable to extend concession benefits to vehicle owners and they are resolving it.

According to Karnataka's Registered Vehicle Scrapping Policy, 2022, after a vehicle is scrapped at the RVSF, its owner will be handed over a 'Certificate of Deposit' (COD), which can be used to get tax concessions while purchasing a new vehicle and other benefits that may be declared from time-to-time. The official said that work is on to resolve the issues related to offering concessions and an 'easy way of implementation' of the tax concession is put in place so that there is no confusion.

Speaking to TNIE, the official said, "Vehicle scrapping at the first RVSF in Devanahalli has commenced operations and old unfit vehicles are being scrapped in a scientific manner. However, there is confusion related to extending concessions by the state government to owners of the scrapped vehicles."

As per the existing Registered Vehicle Scrapping Policy in Karnataka, for example, if a vehicle owner has paid Rs 1 lakh as tax, he is eligible to get 25 per cent of it in the form of concession while buying a new vehicle, he said.

For two-wheelers that were registered before 1986, the concession in Motor Vehicle Tax is Rs 500 and for Light Motor Vehicle registered before 1995, it is Rs 3,000. These are expected to be altered a little and a uniform system will be introduced. Also, the rule that the old scrapped vehicles' owners should get approval from their RTO will be removed to make the process more streamlined, the official said.

To maintain a uniform system in extending concessions, the Ministry of Road Transport and Highways (MoRTH) through the National Informatics Centre (NIC) is developing software, but it is taking time. Once it is ready, there will be no confusion. An owner of an old vehicle can scrap his vehicle, get the COD and submit/trade it for the purchase of a new vehicle, the official said.

Hindu organisations protest against government decision on hijab while appearing for KEA exams

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

MEMBERS of some Hindu organisations staged a protest in the city on Wednesday against the Karnataka Examination Authority's (KEA) decision allowing Muslim students to wear hijab while writing recruitment-related examinations to be held on October 28 and 29.

"The Karnataka government has unnecessarily brought the hijab issue into limelight again despite the court's strict guidelines that it is not allowed in educational institutions," said Santosh Kenchamba, founder of Rashtra Dharma Sangathan.

Addressing the media, Kenchamba said the issue is being highlighted again by the state government ahead of the Lok Sabha elections to garner the votes of the minority community.

Citing the 2006 Sachar Committee report, Kenchamba said the government must take steps to make the education system affordable and inclusive with minorities joining mainstream educational institutions. Instead, the government is taking decisions that lead to divisions in society on communal lines, he added. Earlier at a progress review meeting with Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Higher Education Minister MC Sudhakar, it was decided that Muslim students will be allowed to wear hijab while writing exams.

In 2022, protests erupted in different parts of the state over the hijab controversy. The previous BJP government in the state issued orders banning students from wearing hijab in educational institutions, he said. Sharadh Kumar, district coordinator, Hindu Janajagruti Samiti, said the state government is overruling the High Court's decision. Hijab was banned to ensure uniformity among students inside school and college premises. There is no need for students to wear hijab or saffron scarf inside educational institutions. "This decision of the state government is not right," he added.

29 Namma Clinics to be functional from noon to 8 pm

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

ALMOST two months after Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao announced that around 100 Namma Clinics would be operational from 12 pm to 8 pm in the city, the BBMP has only identified 29 clinics yet. None of them are functional during this time, and are expected to become operational soon.

The health minister's decision came in the wake of a controversy that was sparked after his visit to the AAP government's 'Mohalla Clinics' in Delhi on August 4. He had announced extending the timings of 'Namma Clinics' the following day. He had also termed the 'Mohalla Clinics' 'overhyped'. During his announcement, Rao had explained that he recommended changing the time from 12 pm to 8 pm, allowing patients to visit after completing their daily chores. Currently, Namma Clinics are open from 9 am to 4 pm.

BBMP had not received any official communication from the state government till early September with regard to changing the timings for certain Namma Clinics. BBMP Special Commissioner (Health) Dr KV Thrilok Chandra, said, "In the first phase, we have identified 29 Namma Clinics across Bengaluru to be made operational from 12 pm to 8 pm. A timeline is not set as of now, but is expected to become operational soon."

Previously, BBMP Chief Health Officer AS Balasundar highlighted the manpower shortage in the healthcare system, which makes it difficult to extend time across all 243 clinics in the city. He said that the manpower needs to be doubled to ensure all clinics function smoothly.

ACTIVISTS WANT VIBHUTIPURA LAKE FENCED, SURVEILLED

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

A view of the Vibhutipura Lake in Bengaluru | EXPRESS

A day after a 33-year-old man drowned in Vibhutipura Lake near HAL, lake activists and residents from the surrounding localities, like Talacauvery Layout, Brindavana Layout, Veerabhadra Layout, and Annasandyapalaya, are demanding that CCTVs and barricades be installed around the 45-acre water body, besides additional home guards being deployed. This is the second drowning here in five years.

Sathyavani Sridhar from Vibhuthipura Keresamrakshana Samithi said that crores of rupees have been spent in the past for the lake's development, but safety remains a concern.

"There are no CCTV cameras, the fence around the lake is broken at several places and cattle make their way through these gaps. Earlier too, there was a case of drowning, and now, another incident has been reported. Hoodlums and drug addicts roam freely in the lake area. Lake officials and police have to act regularly and not just when an incident occurs or when someone complains," said Sathyavani.

The activist further added that when she approached BBMP Lake Engineer Sapna, she reportedly downplayed the incident. "Many people die while crossing railway lines. Can the entire railway line be barricaded? The same applies to the lake. People should be sensible not to go near the water body," Sapna reportedly said, as alleged by Sathyavani.

Apart from this, there have been incidents of people coming and throwing flowers, coconuts, and betel leaves, after performing alleged occult rituals.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

26th October: The general mood of the world is about to become just a little less fussy and a bit more emotional, if there's a difference between the two! If possible, we should all try to respect other people's need for security - and that means we all have to put each other's requirements before our own. It would be amazing if that really did happen.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
The fact that professional stars combine very long-term patterns with very short-term cycles means that even little steps you take today can help with major ambitions. However, don't expect instant results, and do be prepared for other people to back out of existing arrangements.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
There is a very pleasant tendency in the air today, stimulated, as ever, by your friend, the Moon. The world will generally be moving in your favour, especially if you are happy to accept whatever turns up. Some people are bound to be in a touchy mood, and liable to over-react, so stay cool.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Your planetary ruler, Mercury, is still making a series of very inspired aspects. These raise the tantalising prospect that you'll make a massive amount money. However, it will be very difficult to distinguish the one genuine opportunity from the ghosts and illusions which cloud your vision.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
There may be a battle for supremacy between your need for security and your desire to break loose, so you may feel deeply unsettled. This could therefore be a very useful point indeed to reconsider the past, take a fresh look at the present and make new plans for the future.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You can and will derive lasting benefit from partners' little games and schemes, even if it doesn't look that way right now. The more you trust them to do what is right, the better the chance that they'll succeed. Rather than simply standing in their way, offer constructive advice.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You should never forget that you are as creative as anyone else. In point of fact, at the moment your artistic potential seems to be rather greater than most other people's, and employers and people in authority forget this at their great cost.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Since the Moon is now aligned with the very heart of your solar chart, you must fulfil all your domestic duties in full! The only way to escape is to give up the lot! Or enrol a team of willing helpers. Keep your sense of humour well to the fore and you'll survive with a smile.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Other people are often surprised when you are able to make up your own mind, and even more stunned when they realise you know what you're talking about. Their misunderstanding may give you the advantage, and you could already be at the finishing post before they've even started.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You may expect additional costs today. It's almost inevitable that you'll have to deal with money, and it may even be rather exciting if you're able to bring out the latent capitalist within! Plus, a generous gesture may take you closer to your heart's desire.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
The Moon's helpful movement has two results. One is that your confidence should be growing. The other is that you're more sensitive. The best conclusion is that you'll be much more forthright about expressing your feelings than you were in the past.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Venus and Mars are irresistible planets so, quite simply, you should be increasingly attractive! Actually, you can sabotage your own good fortune by deliberately refusing to co-operate. You should avoid such self-defeating actions, and help yourself by helping others.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
There is nothing you like better than to be left alone to get on and dream. Psychologists tell us it is healthy to fantasise, so don't let anyone put you down or scoff at your colourful ideas. Besides, you might come up with suggestions which will benefit everyone.

K'taka HC keeps in abeyance single-judge order on HSRP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Wednesday passed an interim order keeping in abeyance the order passed by a single judge directing the state government to finalise and publish within 15 days the process that should be followed by vehicle manufacturers to accord approval across the board to all licence plate manufacturers with the necessary Type Approval Certificate (TAC) for supply of High-Security Registration Plates (HSRP).

A division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice Krishna S Dixit passed the order after hearing the appeal filed by the state government against the order dated September 20 passed by the single judge and also a public interest litigation filed by one Gowrishankar S.

The division bench's order came after the additional advocate general submitted that being aggrieved by clause (b) of the order passed by the single judge, it has preferred an appeal which is pending consideration. The state government is now in the process of deliberation and discussion with all stakeholders and meetings are being scheduled. The first meeting is in the first week of November, he submitted.

The bench observed that at this stage, there is no need to pass any order in the PIL filed by the party-in-person. "Considering all the facts, we are of the opinion that if clause (b) of the order dated September 20 passed by the single judge is kept in abeyance for some time, it will facilitate the state government and other stakeholders to have deliberation in the meeting which is being scheduled as expeditiously as possible. Accordingly, clause (b) of the order is kept in abeyance until further orders," the bench said.

The single judge had passed the order in response to the petition filed by the HSRP Manufacturers Association of India and others questioning the notification dated August 17, and circular dated August 18, issued by the state government.

According to the impugned notification and circular, only the HSRP manufacturers authorised by vehicle manufacturers should supply the HSRP for old vehicles. Such HSRP should be affixed by authorised dealers of vehicle manufacturers. The old vehicle owners should get the HSRP affixed within three months from the date of the notification. Further hearing will be held after three weeks.

Gang running sex determination racket busted

Four arrested, hunt on for doctor, associate

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Byappanahalli police have busted a gang that was allegedly running a racket on gender determination and abortion of female foetus for the last three years and have arrested four persons.

The accused ran a laboratory from a sugarcane crushing unit in Mandya, where they allegedly had scanning machines and aborted female foetuses. The police are on the lookout for a doctor who was part of the gang.

The accused have been identified as Veeresh (35) from Shivamogga and Shivalinge Gowda (50), Naveen Kumar (43) and Nayan Kumar (36), all from Mandya. Gowda had worked in laboratories before and Veeresh used to work with the doctor associated with the case and is currently absconding. Police said they are also on the lookout for the doctors' associate, Siddesh.

The incident came to light on October 15, when police upon credible information, were checking the vehicles around Old Madras Road. The police stopped Veeresh and Gowda, who were taking a pregnant woman to Mandya in a vehicle, but sped away without stopping. The police, however, nabbed them at the NGEF signal.

Investigations revealed that the accused used to take pregnant women to an 'alamane' (a unit where sugarcane is crushed and jaggery is produced) in Mandya, where they had a medical set-up consisting of a scan and ultrasound machines. "The accused used to abort girl foetuses after determining the gender. For each scan, they used to charge Rs 18,000-20,000. Seven women were found there when we raided the place. They were subjected to medical tests and legal notices have been issued," the police said.

Further, the police are suspecting the role of Shivalinge Gowda's wife Sunanda, who allegedly approached the pregnant women and told them about the illegal sex determination facility. It is said that she approached the women through her friends and relatives in Bengaluru, Mysuru, Davanagere, Mandya and other parts of the state.

The Byappanahalli police have taken up a case under the provisions of the Prohibition of the Sex Selection Act and the IPC, and have seized the scanning machine and other medical equipment used by the accused.

Proposal will benefit real estate mafia, says Oppn

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

A day after Deputy CM DK Shivakumar announced that Kanakapura will be included in Bengaluru, Opposition parties slammed him, saying that this will only help "his real estate mafia". While BJP members pointed out that the government was not able to provide basic amenities to the newly added areas of Bengaluru, JDS leaders lashed out at Shivakumar for eying prime land.

Former deputy CM R Ashoka said it's been more than 15 years that 110 villages were added to form the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike, but even today, the government was not able to give good roads and water supply. "Shivakumar is a businessman first and a politician later," he said. Ashok said, "The City Development Plan is pending for the last ten years. Now, it looks like the government will include new areas according to its whims and fancies and sell them to developers." They will change yellow and green zones according to their benefit, he added.

In a series of tweets, former CM HD Kumaraswamy said one needs to question his (Shivakumar) intention of including Kanakapura as part of Bengaluru. "Looks like he wants to acquire land from people in Kanakapura as the price has the value of gold and hand them over to builders. Shivakumar is trying to safguard his properties," he said. Hitting out at the DyCM for stating that Ramanagara was created as a district unnecessarily, he said in the last many years, Chikkaballapura, Chamarajanagara, Yadgir, Koppal and Gadag districts were formed. "Were they formed unnecessarily? The new districts were formed keeping people's welfare in mind," he said.

Kumaraswamy also said it is not possible to break Ramanagara and Shivakumar has to understand this. "Ramanagara district was formed scientifically. If Kanakapura is removed from Ramanagara, people there will revolt. Kanakapura is not any rock to be broken," he said.

NOT AWARE OF KANAKAPURA TO BE PART OF BENGALURU: CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

STATING that he is not aware of making Kanakapura part of Bengaluru Rural district, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah said here on Wednesday that he will discuss it with Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, who proposed it on Tuesday.

He refused to comment on the issue, saying he will have to first hold a discussion with Shivakumar.

Commenting on a series of tweets by JDS senior leader HD Kumaraswamy, comparing Siddaramaiah to the villains of Mahabharata, the CM said If at all there is any political villain, it is Kumaraswamy. "It was he who was sitting in America for a week when his government collapsed. During his one-year-and-two-month stint as CM, he spent most of the time at a star hotel." He said, "Speaking after the no-confidence motion in the Assembly then, he had blamed BJP for bringing down the government. I can release the document. He is speaking something else now. That means that he was misleading the Assembly."

'Will discuss it with DyCM Shivakumar'

Asked if Kumaraswamy is issuing more statements against the government than the principal opposition party BJP, Siddaramaiah said politically frustrated people speak nonsense. "He is more desperate than BJP. He would not have won a single seat if he had not joined hands with BJP. The two are dependent on each other just like how the blind and the crippled are dependent on each other."

On complaints to the Congress high command on money being collected for Assembly elections in five states, he said they are lying. "Till date, we have not given money to any states. They have not asked anyone for money," he added.

On the power crisis in the state, he said measures have been taken to overcome the power shortage. "As all sugar mills are starting operations from today, co-generation of power will happen. We will buy power from outside. We have issued an order that private companies producing electricity in the state should provide it to the state government," he added.

On cabinet expansion, he said there is nothing wrong in legislators aspiring to become ministers, but the high command will decide.

Panel to boost law to tackle possession of wildlife articles

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE state forest department has formed a committee to prepare a comprehensive report on the measures that need to be taken to strengthen the laws to prevent the possession of wildlife articles.

The decision comes after the arrest of Kannada Bigg Boss contestant Santhosh Kumar for wearing a necklace with an alleged 'tiger claw' pendant and the raids on Kannada cine actor Darshan and BJP MP Jaggesh to verify if they too were in possession of wildlife articles.

Principal Chief Conservator of Forests and Head of Forest Force Brijesh Kumar Dixit issued orders on Wednesday on the setting up of the committee. There are clear directions under the Wildlife Protection Act, 1972, that prohibit the collection of any wildlife material. The act mandates that in case any such possessions are there, they should have been handed over to the forest department or have obtained a licence/authorisation letter from the forest officials, said Dixit in the memo.

The committee will be headed by the Additional PCCF (Wildlife) and will have Chief Conservator of Forests -- Bengaluru, Hassan, Chikkamagaluru, Shivamogga and DCF --Bengaluru city, Tumakuru, Koppa and Shivamogga as members.

The committee sould submit the report within a week with details on the action taken on the complaints filed since the implementation of the Wildlife Protection Act, the action taken based on the complaints, action that needs to be taken on the ongoing cases and the measures to strengthen the law.

Khandre defends arrest of Bigg Boss contestant

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kalaburagi

FOREST Minister Eshwar Khandre has defended the arrest of Varthur Santosh, a contestant in the Kannada reality show 'Bigg Boss', for wearing a tiger claw pendant. Speaking with media persons here on Wednesday, Khandre said the forest officer concerned had informed him about Santosh's arrest and he instructed the latter to act as per law. "Killing wild animals, transporting their body parts or using them is an offence as per law. As Santosh was wearing a tiger claw pendant, he was arrested," he added.

Asked why the forest department did not make any arrests so far though many people, including several in the film industry, were allegedly wearing tiger claw pendants, Khandre said he cannot answer as to why people who committed offences were not arrested previously. It is wrong to say that no action will be taken now. "Now, we have noticed the offence and we have made an arrest. If the offence is proved, he has to undergo imprisonment up to seven years," he said.

The minister said as trenches to prevent elephants from venturing into villages are not giving the expected result, the government has sanctioned erecting railway barricades at an estimated cost of Rs 150 crore.

Khandre said his department has planted 5.05 crore saplings across the state in June, July and August. Though there is a deficit of rain in most parts of the state, the forest department is taking steps for proper management of saplings by releasing grants, he said.

"The proposal for establishing a forest college in Kalyana Karnataka Region is under consideration. As on date, around 5,000 posts are vacant in the forest department and action will be taken to fill them up," he said.

We are all Bengalureans, HDK has no common sense: DyCM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

KPCC president and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Wednesday defended his statement that Kanakapura belonged to Bengaluru as he maintained that the people of entire Ramanagara identify themselves with Bengaluru and attacked JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy, saying the latter has no common sense.

"I didn't mean Kanakapura will be included in Bengaluru, but all of us from Ramanagara, Kanakapura, Magadi and Channapatna are Bengalureans. This means we have to safeguard our existence," he clarified his statement in Mysuru and Bengaluru.

"Ramanagara, which was part of Bengaluru, later became Bengaluru Rural. Now, it is a separate district. Kumaraswamy lacks common sense," he charged.

He claimed that he wants the people of the region to identify themselves as part of glorious Bengaluru with self-respect. "Anekal, Hosakote, Devanahalli and Doddaballapur taluks are also part of Bengaluru built by Nadaprabhu Kempegowda and Vidhana Soudha built by Kengal Hanumanthaiah," he said.

Kumaraswamy had earlier said Shivakumar is trying to separate Kanakapura from Ramanagara district and include it in Bengaluru to get the value of his land appreciated.

Shivakumar said, "Even if there are no educated people, there should be intelligent people. I thought Kumaraswamy, who was a chief minister, had common sense. But he does not. He should have asked his father (HD Deve Gowda) and tweeted about such matters."

He said Gowda has got his history right as all hail from Ramanagara and suggested that Kumaraswamy go through the records. "I don't know how much history knowledge you have. Why was the Lok Sabha constituency, named Kanakapura earlier, was renamed Bengaluru Rural by the Election Commission of India," he asked.

He said the then head of Adichunchanagiri Mutt Sri Balagangadharanatha Swamiji, Siddaganga Mutt's Sri Shivakumara Swami, Nadaprabhu Kempegowda and former CM Kengal Hanumanthaiah hail from Ramanagara district, which later became Bengaluru Rural and Ramanagara for administrative purposes," he added.

He obliquely attacked Kumaraswamy, saying the leader shifted his base from his home district Hassan to Ramanagara and bought property. "Did we object to it? Then, the land was available at Rs 2-3 lakh per acre and ask your father how much money was spent on it and the guidance value now," he said.

He claimed he has donated land to start educational institutions in the district, while Kumaraswamy can take credit for constructing 3-4 government buildings. Shivakumar offered Kumaraswamy to have a debate in the Assembly about each others' contributions to Ramanagara district as it will be on record.

Shivakumar said that since he noticed people of the district going on a land selling spree, he advised them to hold on for the prices to appreciate.

DKS inducts 3 JDS leaders into Cong, flays Gowda, HDK on pact with BJP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

Ridiculing JDS patriarch HD Deve Gowda, KPCC president and Deputy CM DK Shivakumar on Wednesday wondered if the regional party's pact with BJP for the 2024 Lok Sabha polls is only in Karnataka, then how can the former PM keep it separate from its Kerala unit.

"Kumaraswamy says the alliance is only for Karnataka. How does the national president (Deve Gowda) keep the party separate for Karnataka and Kerala," he said after inducting three JDS leaders into Congress.

He claimed that since JDS has joined NDA, hundreds of its leaders from other states, including Kerala, have been joining Congress and I.N.D.I.A bloc. "I came all the way from Mysuru to welcome JDS leaders and workers into the party," he said.

JDS leaders Srikant and Nagraj from Shivamogga and S Shafi Ahmed from Tumakuru joined the Grand Old Party on Wednesday. For veteran leader and former MLA Shafi, it was a 'ghar wapsi' of sorts as he was with Congress for over five decades and switched to JDS ahead of the May 10 Assembly polls.

Shivakumar also attacked former CM H D Kumaraswamy, saying he has joined hands with BJP, though the Congress-JDS government, led by him, was toppled by saffron party leaders.

He flayed Kumaraswamy's statement that Chief Minister Siddaramaiah is a Mir Sadiq (traitor) and was responsible for toppling his government. "But after he resigned from his post, Kumaraswamy in the Assembly said BJP leader BS Yediyurappa and his colleagues had paid money and conspired to bring down the government," he said.

"Aren't you thankful for the kindness of 80 Congress MLAs who supported you? Now you are calling Siddaramaiah Mir Sadiq. But people have realised who was. You had joined leaders of Belagavi, Channapatna and Bengaluru who worked day and night to overthrow the government. What happened to values in your politics," he said.

Asked whether there is a struggle to be anointed the top leader of the Vokkaliga community for the Lok Sabha elections, Shivakumar said, "I am not a leader of the Vokkaliga community. I am a leader of Congress. I am not a caste politician, but a politician who does politics on morals, principles and values."

Geetha Shivarajkumar to be Shivamogga LS candidate?

Geetha Shivarajkumar, daughter of former CM late S Bangarappa, took part in the induction of JDS leaders in Shivamogga at the KPCC office. This gives an indication that she may become a Congress candidate for the 2024 Lok Sabha polls. She lost the parliamentary elections in 2014, contesting on a JDS ticket. Her younger brother and Education Minister Madhu Bangarappa had played a key role in bringing her into the Congress fold. Along with her husband Kannada actor Shivarajkumar, son of Dr Rajkumar, she had campaigned for the party in the May 10 Assembly polls. ENS

Fake voter ID card scam: BJP seeks probe by central agency

Bengaluru: In the wake of the Central Crime Branch (CCB) police detaining three people in connection with the fake voter ID card scam in Bengaluru, Opposition BJP leaders demanded that the government hand over the case to the CBI or the National Investigation Agency (NIA). Speaking to reporters on Wednesday, former minister and senior BJP leader S Suresh Kumar said MSL Techno Solutions should be blacklisted for allegedly printing fake Aadhaar cards. "People behind this scam should not be spared. Without verification of birth certificates, Aadhaar cards were issued. This might have resulted in a network of fake voters and this has to be probed. We are going to lodge a complaint before the election commission too," he said. Pointing fingers at Urban Development Minister Byrathi Suresh, whose associate was allegedly involved in the scam, Suresh Kumar said even the minister has to be questioned. "The FIR mentions that MSL Techno Solutions had been making fake voter ID cards and helping people involved in illegal activities. This is a case of national security. This case has to be probed by a national agency," he added. BJP State Executive member and advocate Vivek Reddy said the fake ID cards were issued to people who do not have Indian identify proofs. "Through these fake Aadhaar cards, anyone can avail many benefits. Even people from Bangladesh got these fake cards. For local people, the authorities direct them to get documents attested from authorities concerned. But for these people, no such documents were asked. This entire network has to be exposed," he said. ENS

"WE are probing people who have wildlife items in their possession. Possession of wildlife items is a crime and action will be taken accordingly," a senior forest official told The New Indian Express.

The raids continued till late Wednesday evening and their outcome will be known on Thursday. Forest minister Eshwar Khandre said, "I do not want to name anyone. But no one is above the law. Possession and display of wildlife items is a crime and action will be taken accordingly."

Khandre said no one has been given permission to possess, wear or display wildlife items.

Meanwhile, Nikhil Kumaraswamy issued a statement that the pendant made of tiger claws in his possession is fake. Darshan refused to comment. He was the brand ambassador of the forest department and of the Zoo Authority of Karnataka. Jaggesh and Venkatesh took to social media to say that they were not in town. The jewellers' associations of Karnataka and Bengaluru have extended their support to the forest department for its action.

SK Suresh, president of the Karnataka Jewellers' Association, said earlier people used to wear jewellery made of wildlife items. But after some rules came into force, jewellers stopped making jewellery using wildlife items. An alert has been sounded to jewellers across the state in this regard, he added.

No change of KPCC chief before LS polls: Khandre

RAMAKRISHNA BADSESHI @Kalaburagi

THE All India Congress Committee has already informed that there will be no change of guard in the party's Karnataka unit, said KPCC working president Eshwar Khandre here on Wednesday.

"Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar will continue as KPCC chief till the 2024 Lok Sabha elections conclude," he told reporters.

He said the AICC wants a change in the working presidents of the state unit, who are ministers. "This will take place shortly," Khandre said.

Asked about BJP's demand seeking a CBI inquiry on the suicides of two BJP workers (one in Sedam taluk and another in Chittapur taluk) alleging possibility of influencing the police by ministers Sharana Prakash Patil and Priyank Kharge, Khandre said saffron party leaders have the habit of committing illegal acts and pointing fingers at the Congress. "They are just sitting on their hands. The party has failed to appoint a leader of the Opposition in the state Assembly in the last six months, but is busy blaming the Congress," the minister said.

Khandre, who is the District in-charge Minister of Bidar district, termed Union Minister for Chemicals and Fertilizer Bhagawant Khuba as a "non-functioning minister". He has been making promises to the people of Bidar for the last nine years that the central government would sanction a full fledged Central Institute of Petrochemicals Engineering. Now the Union government sanctioned the institute to Bidar only as the Lok Sabha elections are approaching.

"Though the state government is giving 10 acres of land and 50 per cent of the establishment expenditure of Rs 90 crore, only one course of skill development has started in CIPET on the premises of the Veterinary University, Bidar," Khandre blamed.

Meanwhile, a complaint sent to the City Police Commissioner by T Sengottaiyan, deputy secretary to the governor, said the Raj Bhavan was "attacked" and that "miscreants carrying bombs tried to barge in through the main gate." "There have been sustained vicious attacks on the governor using filthy abuses. These verbal attacks and threats have been made mostly by leaders and workers of DMK and its allies in public meetings and through social media. These threats are intended to overawe the governor and restrain him from discharging his Constitutional duties. However, complaints lodged with police have been inconsequential due to police inaction," the complaint said.

According to police sources, Vinod is a history sheeter involved in several criminal cases. He was involved in hurling of 'petrol bombs' at BJP headquarters Kamalalayam in February 2022, at a Tasmac shop in 2015, and in front of the Teynampet police station in 2017. He was released from jail just four days ago, the police said. According to sources, during interrogation, Vinod had told police that he was unhappy with the governor over his refusal to pardon convicts and due to the spike in suicides in the state because of NEET.

Reacting to the incident, state BJP president K Annamalai wrote on 'X', "Petrol bombs that were hurled at Raj Bhavan reflect the true law and order situation in TN. While DMK is busy diverting the attention of people to insignificant matters, criminals have taken over the streets. These continuous attacks led one to think if the DMK government is sponsoring these attacks."

PCCs will decide alliances with I.N.D.I.A partners in poll-bound states: Kharge

THE All-India Congress Committee (AICC) will allow local Pradesh Congress Committees to work out alliances with I.N.D.I.A opposition bloc partners in their respective states and decide how many seats they would share among them, said AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge here on Wednesday.

He denied that a rift has arisen between Congress and Samajwadi Party in Uttar Pradesh on sharing of seats for the Assembly elections. "Let SP president Akhilesh Yadav tell us how many seats his party won in the previous Assembly polls and on what basis he is asking for more seats," he asked.

He said an anti-incumbency wave is clearly visible in all BJP-ruled states where the elections are due. "People are fed up with false pre-poll promises given by BJP as none of them were fulfilled. Congress will win in all the five states and form governments," he added.

Asked whether the elections to five states indicate the mood of the voters towards BJP, Kharge said issues are different for Assembly and Lok Sabha elections.

He blamed BJP for using its officers, including those working in ministries, for canvassing the party's programmes in the elections. "Let BJP use its party workers and leaders. It is completely wrong to use officers. The people are watching," he said.

On charges by opposition parties that Congress is using Karnataka as an ATM to fund the elections in these states, Kharge said Congress came to power in Karnataka just a few months ago. "How can it become an ATM? Where is the revenue?"

"The central government is using all its agencies like Ed, IT, CBI etc to threaten leaders of non-BJP parties," he alleged. On Karnataka, he said BJP is levelling false allegations against ministers just to defame them and the party for political gains. Medical Education Minister Dr Sharanaprakash Patil and Forest and Ecology Minister Eshwar Khandre were present.

Former MP eyes 'winnability', dumps BJP for Congress

HYDERABAD: Barely 15 months after he joined the saffron party, former MP Komatireddy Rajagopal Reddy on Wednesday resigned from the BJP and announced that he would be joining the Congress in the presence of former AICC president Rahul Gandhi in Delhi on October 27. Reddy had resigned as Congress MLA to join the BJP, forcing a byelection for Munugode which he lost by a margin of around 10,000 votes. In a media statement on Wednesday, the former MP said that his decision to part ways with the BJP was driven by his understanding that the Congress has overtaken the BJP to emerge as an alternative to the ruling BRS, and in view of the Centre failing to take any action against the pink on the allegations of massive corruption it faces.

Seven YouTubers, vloggers booked for negative film reviews in Kerala

IPC Section 385: Extortion

IPC Section 34: Acts done by several persons in furtherance of common intention

Section 120(o) of Kerala Police Act: Causing nuisance and violation of public order

The Ernakulam Central police have registered a case against seven YouTubers and vloggers for publishing negative reviews that adversely affected a film's box office collections, in what is perhaps the first crackdown of its kind in the state.

Social media giants YouTube and Facebook have also been named as accused in the case registered for extortion and violation of public order.

The police action came close on the heels of a Kerala High Court directive aimed at curbing 'review bombing' immediately after the release of a film. The police registered the case on the complaint lodged by Ubaini E, the director of Malayalam movie 'Rahel Makan Kora'. Hains, the owner of Kochi-based cinema production company Snake Plant, is the first accused. Facebook user anoopanu6165, YouTubers Arun Tharanga and Aswanth Kok, and operators of YouTube channels NV Focus and Trend Sector 24X7, besides Travelling Soulmates with the social media handle soulmates55, are accused two to seven. YouTube and Facebook are the eighth and ninth accused, respectively.

As per the FIR, the accused, with a criminal intent to extort and disrepute the complainant, posted objectionable and obscene words against him on YouTube and Facebook. Accused two to seven posted videos having negative reviews against the film, Rahel Makan Kora, soon after its release on October 13, said the FIR. As per the FIR, Hains threatened Ubaini, saying initiating legal measures will be futile and will only cause further harm. YouTube and Facebook were booked for acting as abettors by giving permission to propagate the criminal acts of accused two to seven, said the FIR.

The Malayalam film industry hailed the police action, with many stakeholders saying the act of defaming a movie through negative reviews should be stopped.

"I wholeheartedly agree with the police's move. Negative reviews by several YouTubers have caused huge financial losses to many movies. Vedikettu, a movie I produced this year, is an example," said NM Badusha, a film producer. He said while healthy criticism is acceptable, such reviewers often cross limits.

"We are not against reviewing of movies. However, several reviewers through their videos defame people involved in a movie. This unhealthy trend has to stop," Badusha said.

Kerala Film Producers Association president M Renjith said reviewers should not aim to ruin or devalue a movie.

Priyank writes to Siddu on clash of exams on same date

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Kalaburagi

RURAL Development Minister Priyank Kharge on Wednesday urged Chief Minister Siddaramaiah to direct the Karnataka Public Service Commission (KPSC) and the Police Department to conduct the entrance exams for various posts on different dates instead of holding them on the same day (November 5).

In a letter, Priyank stated that the KPSC is conducting entrance exams for 242 posts of assistant accountant in the Accounts Department and 47 posts of inspector in the Cooperative Societies Department, and the Police Department is conducting an entrance exam for 445 posts of civil constable on November 5.

The candidates, who have applied for these posts, will not be able to write the three exams on the same day. Hence, the exams should be held on different dates. Entrance exams for recruitments in government departments have not been held in the past five years and many unemployed youths fear that they will cross the age limit for such jobs, he said.

Considering these facts, the chief minister should instruct the KPSC and the Police Department to conduct the entrance exams on different dates, Kharge stated in his letter.

Karnataka seeks ₹17K cr for rain, drought relief

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE State Government has sought financial assistance of Rs 17,901 crore from the Central government for rain- and drought-affected farmers in Karnataka.

A delegation of ministers including Agriculture Minister N Cheluvaraya Swamy, Priyank Kharge and Krishna Byregowda met central officials in New Delhi on Wednesday and apprised them of the severe drought situation in the state.

Speaking to reporters later, Byregowda said the state has sought Rs 17,901.73 crore as per NDRF norms. "By September this year, the state faced 26% rain deficit affecting horticulture and agriculture farming," he added.

The government has so far declared 216 taluks as drought-hit. Of the estimated relief of Rs 17,901 crore, the state government for the first time appealed for Rs 12,577 crore as relief for families severely affected by the 90-day drought. Additionally, Rs 4,414.29 crore has been sought for agricultural and horticultural crop losses during the monsoon period (July-June) this year, while Rs 355 crore has been sought for drinking water relief in affected taluks. Along with this, Rural Development and Panchayat Raj Minister Priyank Kharge, in a separate meeting with the Union Rural Development Secretary, demanded the release of outstanding MGNREGA funds amounting to Rs 600 crore. He also urged for increasing the number of guaranteed man-days of work under MNREGA.

Not just Naidu, entire AP & justice also behind bars, says Bhuvaneswari

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Vijayawada

TDP supremo N Chandrababu Naidu's wife Nara Bhuvaneswari commenced the 'Nijam Gelavali' (truth must prevail) yatra from Naravaripalle in Chittoor district on Wednesday by paying a floral tribute to the statue of her father and former chief minister NT Rama Rao.

As part of the campaign, taken up to protest against the 'illegal' arrest of Naidu in the skill development corporation scam, Bhuvaneswari met the families of Avula Praveen Reddy and Kanumuri Chinnabbanayudu, who reportedly died of shock following the arrest of the former chief minister. She consoled the bereaved families in Chandragiri and Nendragunta panchayats and handed over financial assistance of ₹3 lakh each to them. She also assured them of complete support from the yellow party.

Addressing a public gathering at Agarala panchayat, Bhuvaneswari said her husband constantly thinks about the welfare of the people in the State despite being in jail. She added, "It is not just Naidu who has been imprisoned, but also the entire State and justice."

Clarifying that her yatra is not politically motivated, she explained that she has stepped out to talk about 'Nijam Gelavali', a cause that goes beyond her and is a fight for Andhra Pradesh, its children, and their future.

Alleging that the Jagan Mohan Reddy government had put the TDP chief behind the bars to weaken him mentally and physically, and to demoralise the party ahead of the elections, she remarked that the ruling YSRC underestimated Naidu's resilience which he has built over 45 years of facing numerous challenges.

Highlighting how her husband consistently prioritised the people and TDP activists over his family throughout his life, Bhuvaneswari alleged that Naidu was arrested over 45 days ago with no evidence.

People participate in the traditional Banni stick fight at Devaragattu temple in Kurnool district on Wednesday

THREE people were killed and at least 100 others were injured during the traditional stick fight, also known as the Banni festival or Karrala Samaaram, held at Devaragattu hills in Kurnool district early on Wednesday.

Around three lakh people from various parts of Andhra Pradesh, Telangana and Karnataka thronged Devaragattu to witness the fete, while 3,000 devotees took part in it and clashed with each other using sticks.

Speaking to TNIE, district SP G Krishnakanth said two people died when the branch of a neem tree near Simhasanam Katta snapped and crashed as a number of youngsters were mounted on top of it to witness the festival. While Bala Ganesh from Aspari mandal died as the branch crashed on him, Ramanjayelu from Alur mandal lost his life when he fell off the tree.

He added that the third person, identified as K Prakash from Ballari in Karnataka, had participated in the stick fight between two groups and died due to suffocation.

Terming the incident unfortunate, the SP said adequate measures were taken by the district police administration to prevent untoward incidents.

On the significance of the festival, Mala Malleswara Swamy temple committee chairman Gummanur Sreenivasulu said Lord Siva, in the form of Bhairava, had killed two Rakshasas (demons) - Mani and Mallasura - with sticks. People consider injuries sustained and discharge of blood during the fight as a good omen.

ENTERTAINMENT DUOPOLY WOULD BE ANTI-COMPETITION

THE entertainment industry is aflutter with speculation that the Reliance Group is close to buying out Disney India. The implication of such a merger would be huge as it would reduce India's $40-billion entertainment and media industry to a duopoly. Walt Disney acquired Rupert Murdoch's 21st Century Fox internationally in December 2017, paving the way for the merger of Star TV with Disney India. The assets included over 70 TV channels, streaming platform Disney+ Hotstar and film studios. Reliance has Viacom18's 38 TV channels and owns the streaming service Jio Cinema. Together, Reliance and Disney would have an iron grip on the market. On the other hand, two other behemoths—Zee Entertainment and Sony TV, who together control about a quarter of the market—are also close to a merger. While this consolidation into a two-horse race might make business sense, it is a matter of concern as it would shut the door on smaller players.

Disney's latest move also puts the spotlight on the bumpy ride US entertainment giants have been having. Disney came to India in 1993 but remained a slow starter with a few kids' channels. Wanting heft through acquisitions, Disney bought Indian production house UTV in 2011. It also tried its hand at locally produced animation and feature films such as Roadside Romeo and Jagga Jasoos. Almost all its films flopped. Disney's sports conglomerate ESPN also changed hands somewhere along the way. Disney's localisation strategy for India has not worked and now the company seems to be completing a full circle with a possible exit three decades after it entered.

Disney is not the only one who has had its fingers burnt. Giant Viacom, which has been in the Indian market for over two decades with channels such as Colors and streaming platform Voot, has gradually exited, selling off a controlling stake of over 60 percent to Reliance. Warner Brothers followed the same trajectory after losing money on its film studios. India is a huge but complex entertainment market. Not all the big guns have failed. Star with the show KBC and its saas-bahu series showed the success of localisation. However, it is our homegrown producers such as Yash Raj Films or Karan Johar's Dharma Productions who have done substantially better. The new level of consolidation where everything might be under the Reliance or Zee-Sony roofs would be anti-competition; the government and the Competition Commission perhaps need to take a close look at what is brewing.

TDP NEEDS NEW THOUGHT TO CAST OFF OLD IMAGE

WINTER is coming but the political heat is on, not just in poll-bound Telangana but also its sibling Andhra Pradesh. We can go so far as to say Andhra is stealing a march over its neighbour though the latter is just a little over a month from elections. On Wednesday, opposition leader and TDP chief N Chandrababu Naidu's wife Nara Bhuvaneswari embarked on a yatra christened Nijam gelavali (Truth must prevail). Hours later, the ruling YSRC flagged off its Samajika Sadhikara (Social empowerment) yatra. The final destination of these yatris is the heart of the voter who will have to make his or her choice.

Bhuvaneswari's tour is ostensibly for consoling the families of those who had allegedly died of shock after her husband Chandrababu Naidu's arrest. It is akin to the Odarpu yatra undertaken by YSRC chief YS Jagan Mohan Reddy soon after the tragic death of his father YS Rajasekhara Reddy. Keeping aside the avowed purpose, if we look at it politically the obvious question is whether Bhuvaneswari, the late NT Rama Rao's daughter, can evoke public sympathy for her jailed husband and re-energise the demoralised TDP. It would surely be an arduous journey. She was always behind the scenes, but is no novice. Now she is right at the forefront of a political battle. It seems the strategy is for her to keep the cadre and leaders confident and preoccupied until her husband comes out on bail. Public sympathy, if she can gain it, would be a bonus.

The YSRC counter is well-crafted to thwart Bhuvaneswari's efforts. Its yatra is "of the poor and the middle class"—to galvanise the marginalised sections. One has to read between the lines to understand its true import. It is a class struggle of the poor against the bourgeoisie, as Jagan likes to reiterate. The bourgeoisie is the TDP, dominated by the powerful Kamma community. Though the YSRC claims it is not a caste struggle, one cannot miss the subtle messaging. Bhuvaneswari may find the going tough in the days to come. She has already had a slip of the tongue when she claimed she could make ₹400 crore if she sold a two percent stake in her company. This rhetoric suits the YSRC. The TDP needs to think out of the box to stay afloat. Imitation is not innovation.

QUICK TAKE

BUSINESS BRIDGE TO BANGLADESH

BANGLADESH has issued a standing order allowing transshipment of Indian goods at the Chattogram port. This will allow for faster movement of goods to and from the Indian northeast. Earlier this year, the India-financed Sittwe port in Myanmar opened at long last, but geopolitics casts a shadow over its use. Chattogram provides an essential alternative. The Friendship Bridge at Tripura's Sabroom is just 85 km from the seaport. The special economic zone being developed for Indian companies at Mirsarai near the port city is another vital infrastructure. If the train link via Ashuganj is used, movement between Meghalaya and Tripura will be easier than ever.

Wars highlight nationality and ethnicity at the cost of humanity. We must look at Ela Bhatt's household model to move towards a society that cares

A CASE FOR CONSCIENCE AND HUMANITY

SHIV VISVANATHAN

Social scientist associated with the Compost Heap, a group researching alternative imaginations

SOUMYADIP SINHA

ELA Bhatt, the founder of the Self-Employed Women's Association or SEWA, was one of the most innovative activists, blending theory and practice at every step. In her last book Women, Work and Peace, she proposed that the household and women's roles in their households are exemplars for international relations. International relations, she claimed, has much to learn from the dynamics of domestic imagination.

When I first read the book, I felt that Ela behen, one of my favourite activists, was being naïve. Yet the more I thought of it, the more inviting the idea seemed. Bhatt's book is a plea for feminism as an epistemic form. Forging creative links between women, work and peace was precisely the kind of civil society intervention that she argued for during the various wars in Africa and Afghanistan while working for the Council of Elders, a group of senior statesmen working for world peace.

I was remembering Ela's argument when Israel and Hamas went to war. Her book was a tacit commentary on three things. She was candid about the sense of helplessness citizens and housewives felt in the face of war and violence. She was vocal about what war does to domesticity and everydayness, a precious state of being today. Less than two weeks ago, Israel imperiously ordered everyone in Gaza city and in the north of the Gaza Strip—1.1 million people—to move south immediately.

Today, Ela would argue that it is women who suffer from the wars of displacement and the long futile wait for peace that we call normalcy. She wanted women as a constituency to rework the nature of war as politics. One can extend her argument to civil society in general. The citizen seems unable to enjoy the entitlements of citizenship. Bhatt would claim that wars are prolonged affairs. Time claims its own casualties. And it is women who face the real consequences.

When I heard of Hamas and Israel's grim retaliations, I realised that in such a world, people do not matter. Such struggles are not humanitarian exercises offering relief to people. The key concepts are power and strategy, not caring and healing. The United Nations has mechanically echoed warnings of "humanitarian consequences". Bhatt argued further that the media today turns war into a spectacle and offers violence for consumption, hyphenating it with war as difference. Violence gobbles up memory in the very act of consumption.

Reading Ela Bhatt, I remembered the classic work of the Zionist philosopher Martin Buber. His greatest work, I and Thou, a book on Self and the Other, underscored the need for a sense of the sacred in the other. A sense of reverence and care as a part of the very fabric of being human. Sadly, war today reminds one of the parochialities of nationality and ethnicity but not of humanity. The challenge today is: how does one return the human to struggles such as these.

As a housewife, one would say that we need a different kind of narrative, a different map of caring. We need to go beyond the machismo of war, the technical details of strategy, and the body counts of people lost in conflict. We need to look at war as the breakdown of domestic life. This demands a new kind of storytelling. We need to recognise that the media coverage of war is a failure of storytelling. There is little coverage of dissenting imaginations, when Israel, in particular, has outstanding pacifists who have fought desperately to create a world of peace. Secondly, the backstage reports on countries like Saudi Arabia need more honesty. Efforts to democratise the region are hardly captured. Palestine is an isolated repository of the democratic imagination and an area comprising rampant feudalism like the Middle East. Saudi Arabia as an authoritarian entity is a cancer that we need to face. Israel as a very racist and authoritarian state is frightening to watch.

A decade ago, I spent a few days in Ramallah, Palestine. One cannot believe that the survivors of the Holocaust and the creators of the kibbutz would make Ramallah and Gaza Strip perpetual slums of war. Buber's book ironically treated the Zionist settler as superior to the Arab Nomad. One needs pluralistic narratives and a reconciliation of truths and people to begin in Israel. The citizen must graduate from a spectator to a caring witness in order to achieve this transformation. One must map the gradations of violence and peace among various groups and openly confront the everyday brutality of genocide.

To create such a situation, we need new concepts that go beyond the Linus blankets of security. We need to work out a weave of vulnerabilities. The idea of vulnerability breaks the impersonality and indifference of narrative and establishes what the French philosopher Emmanuel Levinas called the desperate intimacy of face to face. We need new forms of dialogue because war and the media propagate clichés of reporting, reinforcing stereotypes and normalising hate. We need a new moral imagination to map worlds beyond borders and nation-states and avoid the obscenity of official words like 'occupied territory'. The very word facilitates genocide. Language, particularly official labels, normalises the increasing violence.

Finally, we must confront our regime as citizens, asking for civil society involvement in foreign policy to challenge its outdatedness. There is an urgency here. India's cosy attitude to Israel is allegedly based on the defence equipment it provides. Mitalie Tripathi, a social scientist, said it was more critical. She claimed that India is mimicking Israel as a society, creating its own Ramallahs. India must challenge the surveillance economies of the future. Panopticonising the future is a danger we need to avoid. It will eat into the very entrails of a plural and open society. One realises that the idea of security has impoverished the very sense of civilisation.

It is a case for conscience and the new varieties of insight that accompany it. The least we can do is not react stereotypically by reinforcing the drumbeats of war. Care and concern are civilisational imperatives, a plural intelligence that India desperately needs to follow.

BJP NEEDS A BIGGER PLAY FOR ITS REGIONAL SATRAPS

SAJJAN KUMAR

Political analyst associated with PRACCIS, a Delhi-based research organisation

THE upcoming state elections reveal a new interplay between the BJP high command and the party's regional satraps. In a clear snub to the latter, the party has declared the lotus as the only electoral face. Former chief ministers have been sidelined. This signifies a transitory phase for the BJP when the party is popular nationally but is antagonistic to its regional satraps except in Assam and Uttar Pradesh. To fill the vacuum of regional leaders, the party has fielded its top guns—from members of parliament to cabinet ministers.

A leader's popularity is an asset to any party. The current hegemony of the BJP in most parts of India is linked to Narendra Modi's popularity. However, a closer look at the state level reveals a diametrically opposite picture. The BJP has a vibrant party structure, a dedicated team of organisational personnel aided by a much bigger team of dedicated professionals. But it seems to suffer from having an outlook that is too organisational, and where some popular leaders are seen as misfits who upset organisational coherence.

In Telangana, a state where other backward classes, scheduled castes and scheduled tribes account for around 90 percent of the electorate, the BJP removed its party president Bandi Sanjay Kumar, a popular backward-caste leader, to appease newly-inducted leaders from the Bharat Rashtra Samithi and Congress. Now the party is poised to remain at the third spot. Similarly, Raman Singh and Vasundhara Raje have been snubbed in Chhattisgarh and Rajasthan. In Madhya Pradesh, the party is soft on the incumbent Shivraj Singh Chouhan despite his waning popularity. In the past, the BJP suffered when it neglected popular state leaders in Himachal Pradesh and Karnataka.

Our field study in Rajasthan revealed a shift from the usual forces at play in assembly elections. For the first time, the pattern of strong anti-incumbency feeling against the ruling party is missing. The Congress has mastered its policy outreach strategy, employed elsewhere most efficiently by the BJP. In all the seven sub-regions of Rajasthan—Mewat, Jaipur, Shekhavati, Marwar, Mewar, Hadoti and Ajmer-Merwara—Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot's banners can be seen in most public spaces, giving the Congress a much-needed perception edge. The prospect for BJP's counter-campaign of 'Nahi sahega Rajasthan (Rajasthan won't tolerate)' appears dim. Gehlot's image blitz resonates on the ground because of his populist Mehengayi Rahat (inflation relief) schemes. Vasundhara Raje—the only state leader who could have added some swing to the saffron party as she still has significance among Jats, OBCs, a section of tribals, and most importantly women—is left in the lurch.

PTI

> The BJP has snubbed some of its popular state leaders for the sake of organisational coherence. Swing voters in some election-bound states don't seem to be impressed with the strategy

The indispensability of a regional satrap as an electoral face assumes centrality when women voters are emerging as a big factor. They seek a relatable face that signifies better law and order, development and women-centric schemes. The current Congress governments in Rajasthan and Chhattisgarh have special schemes aimed at women. Vasundhara Raje could have helped bridge this gap to a great extent in Rajasthan. However, the core upper-caste base of the BJP is either critical of or aloof to her leadership and the party has sidelined her.

The state's anti-Vasundhara leaders do not have any tangible ground presence. Gajendra Singh Shekhawat, central minister for water resources and MP from Jodhpur, is neither a match for Gehlot nor a swing factor even among his own caste's vote bloc. The clout of Om Birla, the Lok Sabha speaker and MP from Kota, doesn't seem to transcend his South Kota constituency. There is hardly any impact of law minister Arjun Ram Meghwal over the populous Meghwal scheduled caste community, who have traditionally voted for the Congress and are still rallying behind the grand old party. It seems these leaders owe their victories in 2019 to the Modi wave. The same is true for Rajendra Singh Rathore, the leader of the opposition in Rajasthan.

In Chhattisgarh, the factions represented by Arun Sao, the BJP state president, Brijmohan Agrawal, Ajay Chandrakar, Prem Prakash Pandey, Narayan Chandel and Saroj Pandey have been more invested in neutralising former chief minister Raman Singh than the incumbent Congress government. This leaves Bhupesh Baghel, the current Congress chief minister, with a relatively easy turf despite a substantial anti-incumbency factor in all the three regions of the state. Had the BJP's leadership issue been resolved, Chhattisgarh would have been the easiest for it to win.

Another shift that warrants attention is the informed decisions swing voters are taking. Most voters we spoke to who expressed support for the Congress at the assembly polls in Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh and to a large extent in Chhattisgarh, also opined that they will vote for Modi when he himself is the stakeholder in the 2024 Lok Sabha election. But they are not willing to exonerate the state leadership on account of the prime minister.

This brings up the BJP's structural need to project popular regional anchors, particularly in Rajasthan and Chhattisgarh. The two planks of better organisation and the Modi factor didn't work in Himachal Pradesh and Karnataka. Over-reliance on these planks without having regional anchors may not help the party cross the threshold this time too. This needs a sense of organisational humility towards popular regional satraps.

In the era of competitive politics, political parties need constant creative strategies that would tolerate a little chaos within the organisation and allow misfits who can pull in undecided swing voters. Given the political fluidity of Indian society, organisation helps, but too much organisation may not.

Govt nod for ₹22K cr fertiliser subsidy

Cabinet also approves inclusion of ₹2,584 cr Jamrani Dam Project under PMKSY-AIBP

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

THE Union Cabinet Committee approved on Wednesday a ₹22,303 crore Nutrient Based Subsidy (NBS) for the current Rabi season on Phosphatic and Potassic (P&K) fertilisers, chaired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi. There is no price increase for key soil nutrient DAP (di-ammonium phosphate).

This fixes NBS rates for the Rabi Season 2023-24 (from October 1, 2023, to March 31, 2024) on P&K fertilisers. The Cabinet has set NBS rates: nitrogen (N) at ₹47.02 per kg, phosphorus (P) at ₹20.82 per kg, potash (K) at ₹2.38 per kg, and Sulphur (S) at ₹1.89 per kg. For the previous kharif season of 2023-24, the government maintained a per kg subsidy rate of ₹76 for N, ₹41 for P, ₹15 for K, and ₹2.8 for S.

"We estimate an expenditure of ₹22,303 crore as subsidy on P&K fertilisers for the Rabi season of 2023-24," said Minister of Information and Broadcasting Anurag Thakur at a press briefing, reaffirming the Modi government's commitment to ensuring affordable fertiliser availability to farmers. He confirmed that farmers would continue to receive key soil nutrient DAP at ₹1,350 per bag, the same as the previous rate.

In May, the Union Cabinet approved a ₹38,000 crore subsidy for P&K fertilisers for the Kharif season of 2023-24. Thakur also mentioned that NPK would be available at the previous rate of ₹1,470 per bag, while SSP (single super phosphate) would cost around ₹500 per bag. The MoP (Muriate of Potash) rates would decrease to ₹1,655 per bag from ₹1,700 per bag.

Regarding the reduction of NBS rates, Thakur explained that although international prices of finished products and raw materials have slightly decreased, they remain high. Therefore, the government continues to provide subsidies to maintain the previous rates. He noted that the fertiliser subsidy reached nearly ₹2.55 lakh crore in the last fiscal, compared to around ₹73,000 crore in the financial year 2014-15.

In another significant cabinet decision, the government approved the inclusion of the Jamrani Dam Multipurpose Project in Uttarakhand under the Pradhan Mantri Krishi Sinchayee Yojana (PMKSY). This project will expand irrigation areas by 57,065 hectares in Uttarakhand and Uttar Pradesh. Drinking water and power benefits will be available exclusively to Uttarakhand.

The Cabinet Committee on Economic Affairs granted central support of ₹1,557.18 crore to Uttarakhand for the project, which has an estimated cost of ₹2,584.10 crore and is scheduled to be over by March 2028.

India resumes visa services in Canada amid diplomatic row

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

AFTER getting security assurances from Canada, India has decided to resume visa services for Canadians. This has come a month after visa services were suspended by India on September 21 after voicing concerns about its diplomats' security.

"The High Commission of India in Ottawa, Canada and its Consulates General in Toronto and Vancouver were constrained to suspend visa services temporarily because of safety and security concerns. After a considered review of the security situation that takes into account some recent Canadian measures in this regard, it has been decided to resume visa services from October 26 for entry visa, business visa, medical visa and conference visa," said the Indian High Commission in Ottawa.

Meanwhile, emergency situations will continue to be addressed by the High Commission and the Consulate General as it is being done currently. "Further decisions would be intimated based on continuing evaluation of the situation," the HCI in Ottawa added.

It may be recalled that Indian diplomats were threatened by Khalistani supporters. Their photos appeared on posters where a bounty was put on their heads. External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar had stated that if the diplomats felt threatened to go to the missions, there was no way they could facilitate consular services.

This was also an outcome of a diplomatic spat between the two countries, which was triggered by Canadian PM Justin Trudeau's statement, where he accused India behind the killing of Khalistani extremist Hardeep Singh Nijjar.

India, Nepal to carry out joint survey to remove farms on 'no-man's land'

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

INDIA and Nepal will begin a joint survey of the 'no-man's land' on the border near Uttarakhand from Thursday.

The intention is to remove the farms that have been encroached around the border areas. Once the survey is done, a report will be submitted and encroachments will be removed by the start of November.

This survey will be done under the jurisdiction of the Sashatra Seema Bal (SSB). This survey is being done after reports of encroachments surfaced in the Khatima area of Udham Singh Nagar and Champawat district.

It is learnt that military and administrative officials from both India and Nepal will meet on Thursday to discuss and demarcate the border areas to resolve this issue before it escalates and becomes a bone of contention between the two nations.

Once the survey is done, steps would be taken to remove the encroachments from the 'no man's land'. People from both countries have set up farms by removing nearly 269 pillars around the border.

Reports point out that Nepal's Madhesi community has set up farms around the area. However, no other illegal activity has been reported in these areas.

Nepal shares an international border of 1,751 km with five states — Uttarakhand, Uttar Pradesh, West Bengal, Bihar and Sikkim.

The border with Nepal in Uttarakhand extends from Dharchula in Pithoragarh district to the border of Pilibhit district of Uttar Pradesh for 275 km.

In 1950, the Indo-Nepal Peace and Friendship Treaty was signed for the free movement of citizens of both countries. With this, the border became "unique" as people from both sides can cross it at any point, said Narayan Bhatt, a litterateur from Champawat.

Dubey trains guns on Moitra a day before House ethics panel hearing

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

A day before recording his statements before the Lok Sabha Ethics Committee, BJP MP Nishikant Dubey launched a scathing attack on TMC Lok Sabha member Mahua Moitra on Wednesday. He described the 'cash for query' scandal she is accused to be involved in, as a matter pertaining to "Parliament's dignity" and "India's security".

Dubey has been summoned to provide his statement to the Ethics Committee in connection with the allegations against the TMC MP.

Without naming Mahua Moitra, Dubey passionately raised questions in a post on his official X handle on Wednesday. He inquired whether the MP's National Informatics Centre (NIC) mail was accessed from Dubai and whether parliamentary questions were exchanged for money. Dubey also questioned whether the concerned party had obtained permission from the Lok Sabha Speaker and the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) before travelling abroad. He emphasized that the issue pertains to the dignity of Parliament, India's security, and the propriety, corruption and criminality of the accused MP.

Dubey continued his tirade, asking, "The answer has to be given whether NIC mail is opened in Dubai or not? Ask questions in exchange for money or not? Who bore the expenses of travelling abroad? Have you ever taken permission from @loksabhaspeaker and @MEAIndia to go abroad or not?"

This fresh round of accusations from Dubey comes after Union IT minister Ashwini Vaishnaw informed him that the NIC would fully support the Parliament's Ethics Committee in investigating the allegations against Mahua, as authorised by the appropriate authority.

In a further sharp attack, Dubey clarified that the matter is not about Adani, degrees or theft but about corruption that misleads the country.

Meanwhile, Moitra reacted to Vaishnaw's response to Dubey's letter, expressing her amusement. She questioned the contradictions between the statements of Dubey and Vaishnaw. Additionally, she taunted the BJP MP about Adani, suggesting that the focus should be on issues more pertinent than political strategies.

In her response, Moitra continued her criticism of the Adani group, citing a report about a significant decline in Adani shares and highlighting concerns about Adani Total, one of the group's listed companies.

Qatar court to pronounce verdict on 8 Naval veterans today, families wait

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

QATAR will announce a judgment on the ongoing trial of the eight Indian naval veterans on Thursday who were picked up in 2022 for questioning but never released. Their families are optimistic about a repatriation verdict.

"We are hoping to have them back by Diwali. There is optimism all around. We are waiting for their homecoming,'' said a relative of one of the veterans, hoping that their optimism is in sync with the judgment that will be announced on Thursday.

The eight veterans are Captain Navtej Singh Gill, Captain Birendra Kumar Verma, Captain Saurabh Vasisht, Commander Amit Nagpal, Commander Purnendu Tiwari, Commander Sugunakar Pakala, Commander Sanjeev Gupta, and Sailor Ragesh.

They were picked up by Qatar's Ministry of Interior on August 30 last year for questioning but never released. They were kept in solitary confinement and later charge sheeted—details of which have not yet been made public.

A month after these eight navy veterans were picked up, they were asked to return to their accomodation in Doha to pack their bags and head back to India, which all eight of them did. However, after their suitcases were packed and they awaited further orders, the eight were sent back to their confinement cells. Their bags continued to be with them in their cells ever since. They have for the past few months been living on a sharing basis in the cells.

The naval veterans were working for Dhara Consultancies which had to down its shutters earlier this year.

"The seventh hearing on the charges that have been levelled against officers was held on October 3. India's ambassador in Doha and Deputy Head of Mission on October 1 met the eight naval veterans. We have also been in touch with their families on a regular basis, extending all possible assistance,'' Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) spokesperson Arindam Bagchi had said.

While there is optimism about the eight being repatriated after judgment on Thursday, an official confirmation on this will make the picture clear. Until then, families are manifesting their return.

His latest shifts focus to Vijayanagara Empire

SURBHI SHAH @ Mumbai

SALMAN Rushdie, one of the most popular authors in the world today, made a virtual appearance at the Tata Literature Live! The Mumbai LitFest on Wednesday with poet and writer Tishani Doshi, wherein he announced that his next project is about the 2022 attack that left him with loss of sight in one eye. "I just think that until I have dealt with that, I can't do anything else," he said pointing toward his half-tinted spectacles with a smile.

Rushdie was stabbed in the torso and neck several times at the Chautauqua Institution, New York, on August 12 last year, following which he has reportedly abstained from physically promoting his recently published book, Victory City.

Based in 14th-century India and inspired by the empire of Vijayanagara in Hampi, Victory City narrates the story of protagonist Pampa Kampana, who brings an entire empire into existence with her magical powers. Apart from this new addition, Rushdie's other books like The Moor's Last Sigh, The Enchantress of Florence and others, portray strong female characters. "I think having three sisters is the secret to it," he said.

"One of the things that I haven't written about in any great depth is South India. My family is from the North and my knowledge of the South was not great. But over the years, it has improved... I have been there more times now than earlier in my writing life, so, I feel confident writing about it," said Rushdie as he revisited his trip to Hampi for the audience. "I just had enough of America... at least for a while," he added.

The 76-year-old writer also recalled that the one setting he has used sparingly is England, where he had lived for a long time (except for The Satanic Verses, which was based in 1980s London). The highly controversial book fictionalised parts of Prophet Muhammad's life and had its fair share of controversy. The then leader of Iran, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, found the book blasphemous and issued a religious edict, fatwa, urging people to kill the author. Following the death threats, Rushdie was forced to go into hiding for years.

"I do feel that all good literature, in whatever form, is about trying to approach the truth. To say something truthful about us, about human nature, why do we do the things we do... that's the kind of truth the novels have always dealt with and if it doesn't deal with that, it's no good," Rushdie said while talking about realism in novels. "Don't believe in anything, except that it's all true," he highlighted.

Giving advice to aspiring writers, Salman Rushdie quoted the ending of Tom Stoppard's play Travesties, saying, "If you can't be a revolutionary, you might as well be an artist. If you can't be an artist, you might as well be a revolutionary." The Tata Literature Live! The Mumbai LitFest's 14th edition continues till October 29 with both online and offline sessions with an exciting lineup of authors and novelists including Luke Coutinho and Sudha Murthy, among others.

Cong at it again, changes 4 nominees

Hit by dissent in its ranks, the party has changed candidates in 7 seats in last 6 days in MP

CONG NAMES NEW FACES IN MP LIST

Congress names new candidates in four seats – Sumawali in Morena district, Pipariya-SC seat of Narmadapuram district, Badnagar in Ujjain district, and Jaora in Ratlam district.

CANDIDATES CHANGED IN 2018 POLLS

During the 2018 polls also the Congress had changed candidates on at least three seats due to rebellion against initially declared candidates on those seats. Out of those three seats on which the candidates were changed in 2018, the Congress had won Indore-1 seat

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bhopal

WITH just five more days left for candidates to file nominations for the November 17 Madhya Pradesh assembly polls, the Congress changed four of its declared candidates on Wednesday.

Amid rising dissent among ranks over distribution of tickets for about four dozen seats, the Congress changed its already declared candidates on four seats – Sumawali in Morena district, Pipariya-SC seat of Narmadapuram district, Badnagar in Ujjain district, and Jaora in Ratlam district.

Ajab Singh Kushwah and Murli Morwal were named the new candidates from Sumawali and Badnagar seats respectively. Both were dropped in the second list released on October 19. Virendra Belvanshi was named candidate in place of Guru Charan Khare from Pipariya-SC seat and Virendra Singh Solanki replaces Himmat Shrimal from Jaora seat.

The Congress had won the Sumawali seat in 2018 assembly polls as well as 2020 by-elections. It emerged triumphant on Badnagar seat in 2018. The Pipariya-SC seat was lost to BJP by a big margin, while the Jaora seat was won by the sitting BJP MLA Rajendra Pandey by less than 1,000 votes in 2018. With new candidates being named by the Congress for four seats on Wednesday, the party has changed candidates on at least seven seats in the last six days.

After naming candidates on 144 seats in the first list on October 15, the party was compelled to change candidates on three seats amid rising pressure of disgruntled leaders and supporters. The former Vidhan Sabha speaker and fourth-time sitting MLA NP Prajapati (who was initially denied ticket in the first list) was declared candidate from Gotegaon-SC seat in the second list released on October 19. Similarly, new candidates, including former MLA Rajendra Bharti (replacing erstwhile RSS man Avdhesh Nayak) and Arvind Singh Lodhi were named new candidates from Datia and Pichhore seats.

After seven new candidates being named in last six days, it now remains to be seen whether the Congress will name new candidates in other seats (where rebellion is growing), particularly in the wake of rising rebellion on dozens of other seats. The Congress didn't name on Wednesday the former deputy collector Nisha Bangre as new candidate from Amla-SC seat of Betul district.

She was likely to meet state Congress chief Kamal Nath in Chhindwara later on Wednesday and based on the meeting's outcome, further decision would be taken by the party on Amla-SC seat, where Manoj Malve was named candidate on Monday.

During the 2018 polls too, the Congress had changed candidates on at least three seats due to rebellion against initially declared candidates on those seats.

Out of those three seats on which the candidates were changed in 2018, the Congress had won Indore-1 seat, but lost the Manpur and Ratlam-Rural seats. The sitting MLA from Indore-1 seat Sanjay Shukla (who lost the 2022 Indore mayor polls by over 1 lakh votes) is pitted against the BJP national general secretary Kailash Vijayvargiya.

₹500 cr to civic body for better drainage facilities

The Kolkata Municipal Corporation (KMC) will receive a grant of ₹500 crore from the National Disaster Management Authority (NDMA) to improve drainage system in the city and reduce the risk of waterlogging. The grant will be released in the next five years — ₹100 crore annually. The approval was recently given during a meeting in Delhi where civic body presented its plans, which include building new drainage pumping stations, upgrading old ones and building retention tanks that can hold rainwater. Three new drainage pumping stations will come up in areas that experience the worst flooding.

Outreach to get migrants registered in other states

The West Bengal government has decided to launch a large-scale outreach drive in Gujarat, Tamil Nadu, Maharashtra, Kerala and Karnataka to get more migrant workers from Bengal registered on the state's Karmasathi portal, which was launched as part of an effort to offer better opportunity to people leaving the state in search of jobs and livelihood. The initiative was taken after it was noticed that only about 34% of the migrant labourers had registered their names on the portal through the recently organised drive titled Duare Sarkar (government at doorstep).

Govt to procure paddy directly from peasants

Aiming to woo the farming community's vote-bank in its favour in the 2024 Lok Sabha elections, the TMC-led West Bengal government is planning to procure paddy directly from at least 25 lakh peasants soon after the kharif (monsoon) season. The move is said to be part of the larger plan to secure electoral dividend by consolidating farmers' support as around 70 lakh farmers in Bengal cultivate their plots in kharif season and the harvesting starts in November. Sources in the food and supplies department said district administrations had been asked to ensure the registration of one-third farmers before the procurement of the kharif harvest from November 1.

In Rajasthan, Priyanka slams BJP's 'politics of polarisation'

'Empty Lifafa'

Priyanka Gandhi Vadra took a jibe at PM Narendra Modi while targeting the NDA govt over the women's reservation issue and remarked, "PM Modi's lifafa (envelope) is empty. He had talked about women's reservation but it would be implemented after 10 years.

RAJESH ASNANI @Jaipur

CONGRESS general secretary Priyanka Gandhi criticised the BJP's polarisation politics and the manipulation of religion for political gains during an election rally in Rajasthan's Jhunjhunu district on Wednesday. She argued that by primarily focusing on religion, the BJP evades accountability, as they realise that polarisation can secure votes without the need to work for the welfare of the people.

Gandhi also took a swipe at the BJP government at the Centre, accusing it of lacking a clear vision and failing to create employment opportunities. She noted that public sector companies, which were known for generating jobs, are being sold to industrialist allies of the government, limiting employment opportunities for the public.

She also criticised the government's handling of women's reservation and expressed uncertainty about when it would be implemented. She took a jibe at PM Modi, while targeting the NDA government over the women's reservation issue and remarked, "PM Modi's lifafa (envelope) is empty. He had talked about women's reservation but it would be implemented only after 10 years."

Priyanka also took aim at the BJP's Agniveer scheme in Jhunjhunu, which sends the largest number of soldiers to the Indian army, and sought to connect emotionally with the people of Shekhawati by emphasizing her family's background. To create a special connection with people in this region, Priyanka claimed that she understands the plight of families of martyrs as she herself is a daughter and grand-daughter of leaders who were martyred in the service of the country.

Blaming the Central government for rising inflation, Gandhi highlighted the relief camps established by the Ashok Gehlot government to counter inflation's impact on the public. She emphasized that the lack of employment opportunities and the soaring inflation rates had made it difficult for people to access healthcare, contrasting the situation with Rajasthan's provision of free treatment and insurance coverage.

She said that the Congress had fulfilled its promises, contrary to the BJP's failure to deliver on its commitments.

Priyanka made false claims on PM's temple visit: BJP

Priyanka Gandhi Vadra repeatedly propagated this falsehood in connection with the Prime Minister's temple visit in January. violated the fundamental principles of free and fair elections

BJP leaders

Submitted video clip

The BJP submitted a video clip along with their complaint, revealing that Priyanka used temple claim to launch a political attack on the BJP, insinuating that it gives empty envelopes to the public

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

Accusing Congress leader Priyanka Gandhi Vadra of exploiting Prime Minister Narendra Modi's personal religious devotion to spread false claims during her Rajasthan poll campaign, a Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) delegation lodged a complaint with the Election Commission of India (ECI) on Wednesday

The delegation, which included Union ministers Hardeep Singh Puri, Arjun Ram Meghwal, and MP Anil Baluni, demanded legal action against Priyanka, the general secretary of the Indian National Congress (INC). At a rally in Dausa, Rajasthan, on October 20, Priyanka allegedly asserted that she saw on TV that only ₹21 was found in an envelope of donation made by Modi at a temple, although she admitted uncertainty about the claim's veracity.

The BJP delegation submitted a video clip along with their complaint, revealing that Priyanka used this claim to launch a political attack on the BJP, insinuating that the party displays empty envelopes to the public, but they contain nothing after the elections.

Following the complaint's submission, Union Law Minister Arjun Ram Meghawal told the media that Priyanka has committed a "crime" under existing laws. He questioned whether she believed in the law and accused her of using religious sentiments to sow discord, asserting that the claim about Modi's donation was false.

The BJP leaders contended that Priyanka repeatedly propagated this falsehood in connection with the Prime Minister's temple visit in January. The BJP's complaint to the Election Commission stated that Priyanka's statement violated the fundamental principles of free and fair elections by exploiting PM Modi's personal religious devotion.

They further alleged that Priyanka's remarks contravened both the Indian Penal Code and the Representation of People Act. Citing the Representation of People Act, the BJP claimed that Priyanka's statement, knowingly false or believed to be false, was intended to prejudice the prospects of a candidate's election.

Apple production: Weather plays spoilsport in Kashmir

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

AFTER the bumper crop last year, the apple production in Kashmir has been hit by unstable weather conditions and scab disease this year and growers are saying the decline is over 40 per cent.

An apple grower Zahoor Ahmed from Sopore in north Kashmir said the unstable weather conditions in the Valley this year has impacted the apple production.

He said the fluctuation in weather conditions at various stages of development of apple crop led to both decline in quantity and quality of apple crop.

Kashmir Valley Fruit Growers-cum-Dealers Union president Bashir Ahmed Basheer said the weather in the Valley this year remained unstable.

"From flowering to fruit development, the weather was unstable. From February to March, there was dry weather. Then there were rains and afterwards there was a long dry spell," he said.

He said heavy hailstorms on many occasions in Valley especially in north Kashmir this year damaged the apple orchards.

"Due to the unstable weather and hailstorm, there has been over 40 per cent decline in apple production in Kashmir this year," he said.

Bashir said the quality of apples has also been hit and there is more percentage of C-grade apples this year in north Kashmir as compared to previous years.

Kashmir on an average produces 20 lakh metric tonnes of apple every year but last year due to the bumper production, the apple production had touched 22 lakh metric tonnes. Kashmir produces 75 per cent of apples in the country.

According to Bashir, the marginal growers will be badly hit by the drop in apple production. "The government should introduce MIS in J&K to safeguard the crop of apple growers. It should be introduced for C-grade apples as we get good prices for A and B grade," he said. A prominent apple grower and president of Fruit Mandi Shopian, Mohammad Ashraf said the incessant rainfall in August after continuous dry spell led to spread of scab, thus affecting the apple crop in Shopian and other parts of south Kashmir.

He said due to scab in apple crop, south Kashmir has more B-grade apples this year. Ashraf said as against 22 lakh metric tonnes of apple production last year, this year the production will be between 15-18 tonnes.

Thousands of families are directly or indirectly associated with the apple industry in the Valley. An official of the Horticulture department said they were expecting a produce of 24 lakh metric tonnes of apple this year. However, due to the unfavourable weather, there has been a drop in apple production by 10 per cent.

"Besides, the quality of the apple has also been hit. Now there is more percentage of B-grade apples and less A-grade apples," he said. Bashir urged the Lt Governor administration to introduce crop insurance in J&K so that growers can be compensated in cases of losses.

Maratha quota leader resumes fast, says '40-day time sought by Shinde is over'

'NO DEVELOPMENT'

Patil told Senior BJP leader Girish Mahajan that he was unable to see any development. "There is no progress at all even after 40 days. We are not in the mood to listen to fake promises. We want action. Even the cases filed against the Maratha youths have not been withdrawn despite promised. How can we believe the government?" Patil questioned. He had called off his indefinite hunger strike on September 14.

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

PRO-Maratha leader Manoj Jarange Patil on Wednesday resumed his fast unto-death protest at Sarati village in Jalna to press for the demand of reservation for the Maratha community from the Maharashtra government.

Patil, while resuming his agitation, said the 40-day period sought by Chief Minister Eknath Shinde and his colleagues to decide on the reservation was over on October 24.

"As Marathas are large-hearted, we gave the government 10 more days. Now 40 days are over and I had no other option but to resume my protest for our long pending demand. Forty-nine Maratha youths have already sacrificed their life for the cause. Unless and until our demands are fulfilled, I will not withdraw my agitation," Patil asserted.

The protest comes a day after Shinde, during his annual Dusshera rally speech on Tuesday, bowed before the bust of Chhatrapati Shivaji and vowed to get the reservation to the Maratha community. The chief minister said he comes from the Maratha community and understands the pain.

Senior BJP leader Girish Mahajan, who was earlier successful in pursuing Patil to withdraw his fast, telephoned him on Wednesday and reportedly sought more time to grant reservation. However, Patil told Mahajan that he was unable to see any development.

"There is no progress at all even after 40 days. We are not in the mood to listen to fake promises. We want action. Even the cases filed against the Maratha youths have not been withdrawn despite promised. How can we believe the government?" Patil questioned.

Patil had called off his indefinite hunger strike on September 14 after Shinde had personally called on him in Jalna and persuaded him. Shinde had assured the community that a decision on the quota issue would be taken in 40 days. The opposition has extended its support to Patil and asked the Centre and state "to work seriously over the matter" and "not play with people by making false promises."

Hezbollah chief meets Hamas, Islamic Jihad officials

Huddle comes amid Israeli claims of increasing attacks by Hezbollah

BEIRUT

SENIOR officials of Palestinian militant groups Hamas and Islamic Jihad have held talks with Hezbollah leader Hassan Nasrallah about achieving "real victory" in their war with Israel, the Lebanese group said on Wednesday.

The Hezbollah statement did not specify when or where Nasrallah met with Hamas number two Saleh al-Aruri and Islamic Jihad leader Ziad Nakhaleh beyong saying that it was at a undisclosed location in Lebanon.

News of the meeting comes as Hezbollah and allied Palestinian factions exchange daily fire with the Israeli army across the Lebanon-Israel border, raising fears of a new front in Israel's war with Hamas in Gaza.

The three groups are part of the "axis of resistance" — Palestinian, Lebanese, Syrian and other Iran-backed armed groups opposed to Israel.

They discussed what "the axis of resistance must do at this critical stage to achieve real victory... in Gaza and Palestine and stop" Israel's "brutal aggression", the statement said. They also discussed "recent events in the Gaza Strip since the start of Operation Al-Aqsa Flood" — the unprecedented October 7 Hamas attack that killed more than 1,400 people, mostly civilians, in Israel.

The health ministry in Hamas-controlled Gaza says 5,791 people have been killed, again mostly civilians, as Israel has bombarded the territory.

Nasrallah and the Palestinian militant leaders "agreed to keep coordinating and daily following up on developments," the statement added.

Hezbollah and Hamas have long been part of a "joint operations room" with the Quds Force — the foreign operations arm of Iran's Revolutionary Guards — a source close to Hezbollah previously told AFP on condition of anonymity.

The meeting also touched upon the cross-border fire on the Lebanon-Israel border, the statement said.

At least 52 people have been killed in Lebanon according to an AFP tally, mostly Hezbollah combatants but also four civilians, including Reuters journalist Issam Abdallah.

Four people have been killed in Israel, including one civilian. AFP

UN CHIEF SAYS HIS REMARK ON HAMAS ATTACK MISREPRESENTED

UNITED NATIONS: UNITED Nations Secretary-General Antonio Guterres on Wednesday rejected the "misrepresentations" of his remarks a day earlier on Palestinian grievances that infuriated Israel. "I am shocked by misrepresentations by some of my statement yesterday in the Security Council — as if I was justifying acts of terror by Hamas," Guterres told reporters, without directly naming Israel. Addressing a Security Council session on Tuesday, the UN chief, again without naming Israel, denounced "the clear violations of international humanitarian law that we are witnessing in Gaza." In remarks that especially outraged Israel, he said it was "important to "recognize the attacks by Hamas did not happen in a vacuum" as the Palestinians have been "subjected to 56 years of suffocating occupation." Guterres said Wedesday it was "necessary to set the record straight, especially out of respect for the victims and their families." "I spoke of the grievances of the Palestinian people. And in doing so, I also clearly stated, and I quote: 'But the grievances of the Palestinian people cannot justify the appalling attacks by Hamas.'" Israeli Foreign Minister Eli Cohen canceled a meeting with Guterres and angrily pointed his finger at him during the Tuesday session, reading graphic accounts of civilians killed in the October 7 assault by Hamas. Israel's outspoken ambassador to the United Nations, Gilad Erdan, called on Guterres to resign — writing on X, formerly known as Twitter, that the UN chief has "expressed an understanding for terrorism and murder."

UN agency warns it may halt Gaza aid operations amid fuel shortage

GAZA STRIP

A UN agency warned dwindling fuel supplies could force it to stop aid operations in war-riven Gaza on Wednesday, as calls mounted for a humanitarian "pause" in fighting.

After 18 days of withering Israeli air strikes and a near-total land, sea and air blockade of the Palestinian territory, the UN agency for Palestinian refugees (UNRWA) warned operations were at breaking point."If we do not get fuel urgently, we will be forced to halt our operations in the Gaza Strip," said the UN agency, which provides aid to 6,00,000 displaced Gazans. Israel launched its assault on Gaza in response to an unprecedented cross-border attack by Hamas militants on October 7. Gunmen from the Palestinian group poured into Israel from Gaza, killing more than 1,400 people and taking 222 hostages.

Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu has promised to "eliminate Hamas" and ensure it can no longer threaten Israeli civilians. But there is growing international unease about the impact of Israel's "Operation Swords of Iron".

Aid agencies report hospitals are overwhelmed, generators lack fuel and shelters are heaving under the weight of an estimated 1.4 million displaced — more than half the population.

Since the war began, a few dozen trucks with essential supplies have been allowed to cross the Egyptian border into Gaza, far fewer than needed, according to aid agencies.

The supplies have included medicines, food and water, but not fuel, which Israel fears could end up in Hamas's hands. Meanwhile, President Emmanuel Macron of France said his country was sending a navy ship to support the Gaza Strip's hospitals which are at risk of collapsing. The ship would "leave Toulon in the next 48 hours", Macron said in Cairo. Agencies

Rep. Mike Johnson, R-La., speaks after he was chosen as the Republicans latest nominee for House speaker at the Capitol in Washington on Tuesday | AP

Mike Johnson 4th GOP candidate for speaker

WASHINGTON

REPUBLICANS chose Rep. Mike Johnson as their latest nominee for House speaker, just hours after an earlier pick abruptly withdrew in the face of opposition from Donald Trump.

Johnson of Louisiana, a lower-ranked member of the House GOP leadership team, becomes the fourth Republican nominee in what has become an almost absurd cycle of political infighting since Kevin McCarthy's ouster as GOP factions jockey for power.

When the House convenes at noon on Wednesday ahead of a floor vote, Johnson, who won the majority behind closed doors, will need almost all Republicans in the public roll call to win the gavel.

"Mike! Mike! Mike!" lawmakers chanted at a press conference late Tuesday night, surrounding Johnson and posing for selfies in a show of support.

Three weeks on, the Republicans have been frittering away their majority status—a maddening embarrassment to some, democracy in action to others, but not at all how the House is expected to function.

Refusing to unify, far-right members won't accept a more traditional speaker and moderate conservatives don't want a hardliner. While Johnson had no opponents during the private roll call, some two dozen Republicans did not vote, more than enough to sink his nomination. Anxious and exhausted, Republican lawmakers are desperately trying to move on. "Pretty sad commentary on governance right now," said Rep. Steve Womack, R-Ark. AP

SECURITY MATTERS

Chinese research ship docks at Lanka port amid US concerns

COLOMBO

A Chinese research ship on Wednesday docked at Sri Lanka's Colombo port, officials here said, amid security concerns raised by the United States over its visit.

"Shi Yan 6 was given permission to enter the (Colombo) port for replenishment," a Sri Lankan foreign ministry spokesperson told PTI.

According to sources, Sri Lanka was delaying granting permission for the arrival of Shi Yan 6 due to security concerns raised by India. However, there is no official confirmation of the same.

It was not clear how long the vessel would remain docked at the Colombo port.

The arrival of Shi Yan 6 followed President Ranil Wickremesinghe's visit to China last week.

In August, Colombo had announced that the Chinese research vessel is scheduled to arrive in October for marine research activities in collaboration with Sri Lanka's National Aquatic Resource Research and Development Agency (NARA).

Described as a Research/Survey Vessel with a carrying capacity of 1,115 DWT, the vessel is reported to be 5.3 metres in length overall 90.6 metres and width 17 metres.

Last month, the US expressed concern to Sri Lanka about the scheduled visit of the Chinese research ship to the island nation.

US Under Secretary Victoria Nuland, who met Sri Lankan Foreign Minister Ali Sabry in New York on the sidelines of the UN General Assembly session, had reportedly raised concerns about the visit of 'SHI YAN 6'.

China dispatches its research/surveillance vessels to Sri Lanka on a regular basis.

India has been raising concern over the visits of Chinese vessels in Lanka. PTI

With 33,111 pages, work on Swedish dictionary finishes after 140 years

STOCKHOLM

THE definitive record of the Swedish language has been completed after 140 years, with the dictionary's final volume sent to the printer's last week, its editor said on Wednesday.

The Swedish Academy Dictionary, with the official title Svenska Akademiens ordbok (SAOB), the Swedish equivalent of the Oxford English Dictionary and drawn up by the Swedish Academy which awards the Nobel Prize in Literature, counts 33,111 pages across 39 volumes.

"It was started in 1883 and now we're done. Over the years, 137 full-time employees have worked on it," Christian Mattsson told AFP.

Despite reaching the major milestone, their work is not completely done yet: the volumes A to R are now so old they need to be revised to include modern words.

"One such word is 'allergy' which came into the Swedish language around the 1920s but is not in the A volume because it was published in 1893," Mattsson said.

"Barbie doll," "app," and "computer" are among the 10,000 words that will be added to the dictionary over the next seven years.

The SAOB is a historical record of the Swedish language from 1521 to modern day. It is available online and there are only around 200 copies published, used mainly by researchers and linguists. The Academy also publishes a regular dictionary of contemporary Swedish. The Swedish Academy was founded in 1786 by King Gustav III to promote the country's language and literature, and work for the "purity, vigour and majesty" of the Swedish language.

The Swedish Academy Dictionary has in its collections 9 million quotations on slips. The quotations derive from about 20,000 different sources like fiction and non-fiction, periodicals, accounts, estate inventories, reports of court proceedings and so on. AFP

STERILISATION RULE UNLAWFUL, SAYS JAPAN SC

TOKYO

JAPAN'S top court said on Wednesday that obliging transgender people to be sterilised in order to change their legal gender was unconstitutional. But the claim from a transgender woman at the centre of the case against having to undergo gender affirmation surgery will be sent back to the high court for further deliberation, the court said.

The sterilisation rule "restricts a person's free rights not to have their bodies invaded against their will," the supreme court said. The requirement imposes a "cruel choice" on those who wish to change gender between "embracing the sterilisation surgery that requires an intense level of bodily invasion" and "relinquishing important legal benefits of being treated according to their gender identity," court said.

Under rules, transgender people applying to legally change their gender must meet criteria including forfeiting reproductive capacity—effectively meaning sterilisation. Other conditions include being unmarried, not having children and being officially diagnosed with gender dysphoria. At the heart of Wednesday's case was a transgender Japanese woman whose claim to be legally listed as female without surgery was rejected.

Investors lose ₹15L cr in 5 sessions

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

THE festive season has started on a sombre note for equity investors as they have lost nearly ₹15 lakh crore in the past five sessions amid an ongoing period of sell-off since the start of the Israel-Hamas conflict.

The market is also facing pressure from surging bond yields and mixed set of quarter earnings by companies.

The BSE Sensex has shed 2,326 points or 3.50% in the last five sessions while the Nifty50 has fallen 670 points or 3.39% during the period. On Wednesday, the 50-share Nifty fell 159.60 points to close at 19,122 and the Sensex plunged 522.82 points to 64,049. In the last five sessions, market cap of BSE-listed firms, which reflects the shareholders' cumulative wealth, came down to ₹309.08 lakh crore from ₹323.82 lakh crore five sessions ago, an erosion of ₹14.74 lakh crore.

V K Vijayakumar, chief investment strategist at Geojit Financial Services, said the uncertainties associated with the Israel-Hamas conflict will continue to weigh on markets in the near term. He added that a piece of positive news like the fall in the US bond yields and weakening crude can help market revive but it may not sustain given uncertainty surrounding the West Asian conflict.

On Wednesday, there was a softening in crude prices and the 10-year US treasuries. Yield on Wednesday was at 4.86% after surpassing the 5% mark on Monday for the first time since 2007. When yield rises, investors tend to transfer their exposure from riskier assets like equities to bonds. FIIs sold (net) ₹4,237 crore on Wednesday. Some experts note the current headwinds from the global cues are allowing investors to cut their exposure to the expensive Indian market. Nifty50, trading at a trailing 12-month (TTM) price-to-earnings (P/E) multiple of 22.22 as of October 23, is one of the most expensive equity benchmarks in the world.

The September quarter earnings of India Inc, especially of IT heavyweights, have failed to bring cheers in the street and have dampened the overall mood in the market. Santosh Meena, head of research, Swastika Investmart, said domestic market is undergoing a correction, and even the previously outperforming broader market segments are now seeing profit-taking, which many had anticipated. The mid-cap and small-cap indexes have fallen about 3-4% in the past two sessions.

IT hiring declines in FY24; 30% fall in entry-level jobs

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

TOP IT companies have slowed down freshers hiring and according to experts, the second half of this fiscal (H2FY24) could witness an all-time low hiring considering the present macro uncertainties.

Clients are also cutting back on spends and companies have decided to honour all offers that they already made and increase utilisation of the present bench strength.

Many IT companies have not set any campus hiring target. Infosys said it still has a significant fresher bench with the company. "At the moment, we are not going to the campuses as yet," said Nilanjan Roy, CFO, Infosys, during the company's Q2 earnings conference. The company had hired about 50,000 freshers last year.

Wipro said that it would honour all offers that it has already made. Staffing firm Xpheno said its outlook for FY2024 headcount is a net annual growth of 2.4% over FY2023 closing. Net headcount additions for this fiscal might close at sub 200,000 range (1,60,000-1,90,000). It added that the IT sector headcount will be below the 6.8 million mark, as against 6.6 million closure in March 2023. Top four IT firms in India have cumulatively cut their workforce by about 38,950 employees in the first half of this fiscal. In FY23, top 5 IT firms' employee addition fell 69% as they cumulatively added 83,906 employees as against 2,73,377 employees onboarded in FY22.

> The rapid progress in automation, AI, and machine learning has led to an optimisation in the workforce and hence, a decline in demand
> Narayan Mishra, MD & CEO of CIEL HR Services

The IT sector has undergone a significant transformation this year marked by a noticeable decline of approximately 25-30% in demand for entry-level positions, said Aditya Narayan Mishra, MD & CEO of CIEL HR Services.

"This decline in hiring fresh talent can be attributed to several factors, one of which is the evolving landscape within the IT industry itself. The rapid progress in automation, artificial intelligence, and machine learning has led to optimisation in the workforce and hence, a decline in demand," he added. Firms are increasingly in search of professionals who possess specialised expertise in emerging technologies, rather than engaging in widespread hiring of freshers.

TCS gets notice over delay in onboarding

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

THE Ministry of Labour and Employment, Maharashtra, has taken cognizance of onboarding delay and has issued a notice to Tata Consultancy Services (TCS).

The Nascent Information Technology Employees Senate (NITES) had urged the Ministry of Labour and Employment to intervene in onboarding delays and filed a complaint. It has taken a stand on behalf of over 2,000 lateral recruits who have been affected by the delay in their onboarding process by TCS. The department has asked a few TCS executives to meet the officials and discuss the situation on November 2. TCS didn't respond to the queries sent by this newspaper.

NITES has raised various demands including collaboration with the affected employees to identify alternative employment opportunities within TCS and to pay the affected employees their full salaries for the months for which their onboarding has been delayed. As per sources, there has been a delay in onboarding for at least three to six months now. In the past a few quarters, some IT firms have been delaying onboarding freshers. Both Infosys and Wipro recently said they would honour all offers they have made. NITES demanded that the company should provide the affected employees with access to TCS's employee assistance programme.

Revenue for Q2 stood at ₹12,864 crore, down 2% YoY. CP Gurnani, MD and CEO, Tech Mahindra, said, "The year is being characterised by a challenging demand environment and prolonged macro uncertainties. We have doubled down our strategy of working closely with clients, helping them to streamline operations." ENS

JAPAN

10-YEAR YIELD HITS DECADE HIGH ON BOJ ACTION

Ten-year Japan government bond yield touched a new decade-high on Wednesday on speculation that the Bank of Japan (BOJ) could raise its cap for the benchmark yield. Bond yield jumped to 0.865% earlier in the session, its highest since July 2013 and then yield retreated to 0.850%, a rise of 1 basis point (bps) from the previous session. A recent jump in global interest rates is heightening pressure on the BOJ to raise existing cap on the bond yield at its policy meeting next week. The central bank has conducted several unscheduled bond-buying operations recently, including the one in the previous session. Analysts say the BOJ has not aggressively tried to contain yields based on the amounts they offered to buy. The central bank uses the Yield curve control (YCC) to guide the 10-year yield to around 0% to support the economy. In July, it raised the de-facto cap on the yield to 1.0 per cent from 0.5 per cent to allow long-term rates to rise more, reflecting increasing inflation.

SINGAPORE

INFLATION RATE CLIMBS TO 4.1% IN SEPTEMBER

Consumer-price inflation in Singapore jumped to 4.1% in September, a rise from 4% in August, largely driven by a 6.3% annual rise in private transport costs, which accounts for 17.07% of the index weight, according to a report by the Department of Statistics. Housing and utility costs, comprising 24.84% of the index, saw a year-on-year jump of 3.7%, and food prices, with a 21.10% weighting, rose 4.3%. The core Consumer Price Index (CPI), which excludes private transport and accommodation costs, witnessed an annual rise of 3.0%, marking a fall from August's figure of 3.4%. Headline inflation is expected to range between 3-4%, while core inflation is predicted to sit within the 2.5-3.5% range. According to the Monetary Authority of Singapore and the Ministry of Trade and Industry, both institutions forecast an average headline inflation rate of about 5% and a core inflation rate of about 4% for the remainder of this year.

SRI LANKA

INFLATION EASES TO 0.8% IN SEPT FROM 2.1% IN AUG

The consumer price inflation in Sri Lank eased to 0.8% year-on-year in September from 2.1% in August, the statistics department has said. Food prices decreased 5.2% in September after falling 5.4% in August, from a year earlier, the Department of Census and Statistics said in a statement. Prices for non-food items rose 5.9% in September after rising 9% year-on-year in August. The country has experienced record high inflation after its economy was hit by the worst financial crisis in decades. However, the country's inflation has come down sharply since June, partly on account of the statistical base effect, and also helped by a stronger currency, and improved harvests. It raised power prices for households by 18% last week but the rise is unlikely to push up inflation much, analysts said. The country secured a staff level agreement on the first review of its $2.9 billion bailout from the IMF last Friday.

Niti Aayog explores ways to address widening trade deficit with China

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IN a bid to safeguard supply chains in view of emerging geopolitical situation and address widening trade deficit with China, government think-tank NITI Aayog has launched a study to develop a comprehensive action plan.

It has floated expression of interest inviting bids from consultants to undertake the two studies in areas of reducing trade gap with China and give impetus to India's Make in India campaign. The development comes at a crucial time when the tensions between India and China have been escalating since the Galwan clash in June 2020.

"The study would aim to develop a comprehensive action plan to bridge the trade deficit over time and align trading strategies with emerging geopolitical situations and potential risks to safeguard supply chains," the Aayog said in a notice . According to the terms of reference, the study would analyse the trends in India-China trade (at product category level) over the recent years to observe the patterns of trade dependency and underlying cause for the deficit with the neighboring country.

As per the notification on Aayog's website, the study will examine supply chains of India-China trade and comparable supply chains of India's trade with other Asian countries to "derisk" India's trade. It will undertake research to figure product categories where India has comparative advantage and a significant market in China to expand its exports.

The study would recommend policies required for bolstering local production and productivity in sectors similar to the global economy, which would not just narrow the trade deficit with China, but also help in capitalizing on global supply chain shifts. As per Niti Aayog, about 32% ($83.1 billion) of India's merchandise trade deficit was with China alone in 2022-23.

Invites bids to carry study

Niti Aayog has floated expression of interest inviting bids from consultants to undertake the two studies in areas of reducing trade gap with China and give impetus to India's Make in India campaign. The development comes at a crucial time when the tensions between India and China have been escalating since the Galwan clash in June 2020. The study would analyse trends in India-China trade (product category level) over recent years to observe the patterns of trade dependency

RBI mandates two whole-time directors in banks

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IN order to facilitate smooth succession planning for banks, regulator Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has mandated that the lenders should have at least two whole-time directors (WTD), including the MD & CEO, on their boards.

In a notification issued on Wednesday, the RBI said banks that do not currently meet the minimum requirement are advised to submit their proposals for the appointment of WTD(s) within a period of four months from the date of issuance of the notification. A whole-time director is a full-time employee of a company, who is entitled to receive remuneration. A whole-time director is appointed by the shareholders of the company. The RBI in its notification said while two WTM is mandatory, the total number of whole-time directors should be decided by the Board of the bank by taking into account factors such as the size of operations, business complexity, and other relevant aspects.

Sebi cracks down on finfluencer, orders disgorgement of ₹17 crore

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

MARKET regulator Securities and Exchange Board India (Sebi) has cracked down on another finfluencer Mohammad Nasiruddin Ansari, the proprietor of stock trading platform Baap of Chart.

Sebi has asked Ansari to refund over ₹17 crore as fee charged for fraudulent and unregistered investment advisory. It has also restrained Ansari, his company Syndicate Ventures (GSVL) and one of his associates Rahul Rao Padamati from buying, selling or dealing in securities either directly or indirectly, in any other manner until further orders.

Sebi after its probe found Ansari via his trading platform Baap of Charts used to provide recommendations (buy/sell) under the garb of providing educational training related to securities market. Sebi found Ansari and his company made ₹17.20 crore in past two years from carrying out 'investment advisory activities, which are both unregistered and fraudulent'. Sebi said in its order that Ansari and others made a quick buck by inducing persons to invest in the market making bogus claims and assurances of astronomical profits if trades are executed relying on their advise/recommendations.

As per the probe, Ansari would share screenshots of his purported profits from trading to lure investors.

He would claim trading was his main income, and that he ran courses for time pass. But in reality, Ansari had suffered a loss of about ₹3 crore in trading during the last 2.5 years, which he concealed from his clients/ investors.

Sebi has asked Ansari to not only stop giving any trading tips but also withdraw from public access all advertisements, representations, literatures, brochures, materials, publications, communication, etc., in relation to their investment advisory activities/ workshops or any other unregistered activity in the securities market until further orders.

Accounting regulator launches inquiry against EY member firm SR Batliboi

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE National Financial Reporting Authority (NFRA), the accounting regulator, has launched an inquiry against one of the EY member firms, SR Batliboi, which is the statutory auditor of five listed Adani Group's companies.

So far, it is unclear if NFRA is investigating other auditors of the Adani Group. The duration of the audit completion is also unknown at this time, as per sources.

The inquiry against the EY member firm, which serves as the statutory auditor for several Adani firms, shows concerns regarding the accounting and disclosures by the Adani Group. The Group is also subject to a court-mandated probe by market regulator securities exchange board of India(SEBI). This newspaper couldn't elicit any comment from EY or NFRA regarding the investigation. SR Batliboi, the auditor in question, has been involved in Adani Ports & Special Economic Zone, Adani Power,Adani Green Energy, Adani Wilmar and two cement makers it acquired from Holcim Ltd. Foreign accounting firms like EY operate in India through independent affiliates due to legal restrictions. Hindenburg's report in January raised doubts about Adani's accounting and audits, leading to a decline in its market value. The Group responded, asserting that their audits are conducted by certified professionals.

Adani group in a statement said: "We reject any suggestion that Adani Group and its businesses have not acted as per the regulations and accounting standards of the jurisdictions in which we operate. Adani Group has always conducted its business in compliance with all applicable laws and regulations and is confident about its practices, governance and disclosures."

Not the right time to talk: Mahmudullah

Without uttering a word on the treatment meted out to him by Bangladesh selectors in the run up to the World Cup, Mahmudullah said while there's lots to say, it is not the right time in the middle of the tournament. "I do want to talk about a lot of things but this is not the right time to talk about," Mahmudullah said on Tuesday.

I haven't played a lot of white-ball cricket over the last three years. But I'm hoping to use all my experience and give it all out in this World Cup. I wasn't expecting this call.

More than what it seams

Lack of natural variations making pacers to bowl cross & wobble seam

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

INDIA pacer Mohammed Siraj had an off day against Afghanistan conceding 76 runs from his nine overs with no success to his credit. With Rohit Sharma and Co opting to field against arch-rivals Pakistan in their next World Cup match, pressure was on the Hyderabad pacer to deliver with more than one lakh partisan crowd egging on their team in Ahmedabad.

Siraj, however, was hit for three fours in his first over by opener Imam-ul-Haq. Pakistan were going strong at 41 for no loss after 7.5 overs when Siraj bowled the cross seam delivery which landed on the smooth side, kept low and struck Abdullah Shafique square on the pad.

With mostly the flat tracks on offer at the ongoing ODI World Cup, it's not only Siraj who has been employing cross seam to the effective use as pacers like Gerald Coetzee from South Africa and Dutch Paul van Meekeren also have achieved considerable success using the delivery.

Former India pacer Tinu Yohannan says bowlers are resorting to cross and wobble seam deliveries as most of the pitches are flat except for surfaces at a few venues like Dharamsala. "In the absence of natural variations, pacers bowl cross and wobble seam. Siraj is one of the best exponents of such bowling," Yohannan, who had played three Tests and as many ODIs for India, told this daily.

Elaborating it further, he said, "Instead of gripping the ball with the seam running parallel to the fingers, the bowler holds the ball so that the seam runs horizontally across his fingers. So when the ball lands on the seam, it gets extra bounce and when it lands on the smooth side, it keeps low and skids hurrying the batter." It was this low bounce that undid Shafique. Siraj also excels in wobble seam and Yohannan believes the advent of the T20 cricket has made the bowlers look for new ways to counter the challenges. "We used to bowl cross seam when the wickets were not offering any assistance but wobble seam was not in use that much. In wobble seam, a pacer doesn't release the ball on the seam. He rolls fingers across the seam so that the ball wobbles or goes a bit shaky down the wickets. It won't come straight down like a Mohammed Shami's delivery, so it confuses the batters on which side the ball will move."

The right-arm medium-pacer, who made his Test debut against England in 2001, strongly feels if a pacer has control over all three lengths he bowls then he is well-equipped to counter any challenge. "It's important for pacers to understand existing conditions and have skill sets to operate on such conditions. Control over all three lengths which they bowl — good length, yorker and bouncer — is a must. They also need to have control while bowling slower good length delivery, slower bouncer and slower yorker. So basically control over length and speed variation are very important."

He admits bowling is getting more challenging with each passing day as people love to see high-scoring contests but a good bowler will always find a way to excel. "This has made bowlers to evolve. It's a challenge for bowlers but good bowlers will have more good days no matter what they encounter. For example (Jasprit) Bumrah, he has control over his lengths and variations so he doesn't bowl cross or wobble seam," Yohannan signed off.

DECODING THE CRAFT

As the nomenclature suggests, the bowler holds ball across the seam. For a cross-seam delivery, the action need not be changed. It all depends on how the ball will hit the deck.

HOW TO HOLD THE BALL

AS A VARIATION

Ideally, bowlers prefer to bowl conventional delivery with the seam upright for lateral movement both in the air and off the pitch. However, on pitches and conditions that do not aid conventional seam bowling, bowlers tend to use cross seam delivery as a variation.

ILLUSTRATION : SOUMYADIP SINHA

LANDING ON LEATHER

The randomness of pitching makes the delivery unpredictable. That's the weapon bowlers bank on. If the ball lands on the smoother side, ball most likely will skid and move faster than usual. It is also likely that the ball bounces less The batter may get perplexed with the speed at which it reaches and may be late on the shot.

IF BALL HITS THE SEAM

If the ball hits the seam, it will behave differently. The seam is raised and can be considered an obstruction for smooth flow. If the ball lands on the seam then it may not travel as fast as it does when it lands on the smoother leather surface. Also, since the seam is raised, it may kick off or bounce after hitting the deck. The batter may be early on the shot or high on the bat.

Maxwell smashes record ton as Australia march on

AGNECIES @New Delhi

GLENN Maxwell bludgeoned his way to the fastest World Cup century after David Warner slammed his second successive hundred as Australia displayed their batting might to amass 399 for 8 against the Netherlands here on Wednesday. In reply, Netherlands were bundled out for 90 as Australia registered a 309-run win — largest margin in an ODI WC.

Opener Warner laid the foundation with a 92-ball 104 before Maxwell went on a six-hitting spree, smashing 106 off 44 balls. Steve Smith (71) and Marnus Labuschagne (62) also returned to form with resolute fifties. Maxwell reached the hundred in 40 balls to surpass South African Aiden Markram's 49-ball effort which also came during this World Cup against Sri Lanka. Maxwell smashed nine fours and eight sixes during his stunning innings, which was also the fourth fastest hundred in ODI cricket. Warner's innings was studded with 11 hits to the fence and three maximums. The Dutch might have nurtured hopes of a fight back as Australia lost three wickets in 19 balls to slip from 244 for 2 to 267 for 5 but Maxwell forged a 103-run stand off 43 balls with Pat Cummins to take Australia just one run short of 400. Maxwell's blitzkrieg saw Australia accumulate 131 runs in the last 10 overs.

Brief scores: Australia 399/8 in 50 ovs (Maxwell 106, Warner 104) bt Netherlands 90 in 21 ovs (Adam Zampa 4/8).

Do-or-die meeting between England and Sri Lanka

Halfway through the World Cup, England and Sri Lanka have two points each. Can the defending champions finally get their campaign on the line or will the Asia Cup finalists do a repeat of 2019 to upset England? A look...

PANIC STATIONS OR NOT YET?

England started their campaign with a loss against New Zealand, but a win against Bangladesh felt like they were back on track. A shock loss to Afghanistan followed by a collapse against South Africa have sent the Jos Buttler-led side in the bottom tier of the points table.

PLAYING XI FOR SL

With many injury concerns around the side since before the start of the tournament, SL has struggled to field the first-choice playing XI in the Asia Cup and WC as well. Angelo Mathews has replaced Matheesha Pathirana in the WC squad. It will be interesting if he gets the chance straight away.

BATTING WOES OR TOOTHLESS BOWLING?

England conceded 399 runs against South Africa in Mumbai, including 143 in the last 10 overs. Even with the return of Ben Stokes, one of the most explosive batters in the world, they couldn't score half of the target. England need to improve in each department if they want to have any chance at the semi-final spot.

No reason why women can't coach men's teams: Hartley

GOMESH S @Chennai

ALEX Hartley needs no introduction in the cricketing fraternity. The former England spinner, who retired from all forms of cricket in August 2023, is a World Cup winner, commentator, co-host of No Balls Podcast with Kate Cross, and an ice cream enthusiast. Recently, Hartley was appointed as the assistant spin bowling coach to Multan Sultans, the Pakistan Super League franchise.

In India with the BBC as a commentator for the ODI World Cup, Hartley spoke to this daily about the new role, what it means, working with spin bowling coach Saqlain Mushtaq, her time as a commentator & more. Excerpts.

On the new role with Multan

Oh, it's amazing, isn't it? It is honestly amazing. Surreal. An opportunity that obviously I can't turn down. I think it is credit to Ali (Tareen, the franchise owner) in Multan Sultans to really change the way women are perceived in the sport, especially in Pakistan. I mean, a huge opportunity and I'm so excited to work alongside the coaches there and I think it's going to be brilliant.

Alex Hartley | TWITTER

On working with Mushtaq

It's getting those building blocks in place. The bowlers I know have got all the tricks of the trade. It's just can they repeat it time and time again? So for me it's doing that but also to learn from Mushtaq. It's to be there and to see how he operates and how he coaches, you know, he was a world class player, world class coach. I think it's just a huge opportunity. I'm like a kid again. You know, going into a new environment, I can be a sponge and learn so much about how to coach.

On more women coaching men's teams

Yeah, I think it can happen a lot more. I think there's no reason why women can't coach in a men's environment. Men have been coaching women's cricket for such a long time and now women are professional from a younger age, we're learning the skill earlier. I think for me, my job going over to Pakistan and Multan is to get the basics into the spinners there. We know that the spinners in the subcontinent are talented. They have lots of variations but they might not necessarily have the building blocks to get to the top. I guess for me now it's setting up techniques that they have a strong base. So they bring their arm in and do they have those techniques and the rhythm and things like that and the processes for the outcome.

On commentary experience

It's been amazing. I love India. I've been to Mumbai a few times. I never really travelled in Europe that much. So for me, it's been amazing to go out and about and see more places in India. This is a bucket list place for me, Dharamsala. The beautiful sight of it, I love every single second here.

Under-fire Babar & Co seeking strong response

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @Chennai

PAKISTAN have a mountain to climb when they take on South Africa in the World Cup match at the MA Chidambaram here on Friday. The way South Africa is playing, Pakistan will have to step up big time to get back to winning ways.

Already daggers are out as many former Pakistan cricketers are gunning for Babar Azam's blood for the 1992 World Cup champions side's loss to Afghanistan. Most former Pakistan greats are in unison that Azam has not been able to lead the team by example and have singled out the star batter for his failure to make a turnaround in his side's fortunes after the colossal loss to India. "Pakistan have a lot of problems to deal with. Babar Azam needs to improve a lot tactically. Hasan Ali was getting the ball to reverse towards the back end of the innings. The equation was run-a-ball at that stage. Pakistan needed wickets, and Hasan Ali looked very close to getting a dismissal. What was the need to bowl a spinner from the other end?," questioned former Pakistan captain Ramiz Raja in a video on his YouTube channel.

Babar Azam | ASHWIN PRASATH

The former Pakistan board chief also recalled his post-match interview with Babar where the latter had admitted that the bowling was not up to the mark against Afghanistan. "It was a massive disaster for Pakistan in this World Cup. Losing to Afghanistan will hurt badly. The disappointment was written on Babar Azam's face when I interviewed him... Pakistan have never dealt with a surprising defeat like this one before," Ramiz said.

Pakistan trained at Chepauk on Wednesday. They have another day before the game to introspect and try not to repeat the same mistakes. Fielding and batting are the major areas of concern. Against Afghanistan, Babar's men were sloppy in fielding, especially at the boundary and also conceded a couple of overthrows.

Muzumdar appointed as India women head coach

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

IN what was a long overdue appointment, the BCCI named former cricketer and coach Amol Muzumdar as the head coach of the Indian senior women's team on Wednesday.

The Harmanpreet Kaur-led side has been without a head coach since Ramesh Powar was reshuffled to NCA last december. Since then, Hrishikesh Kanitkar and Nooshin Al Khadeer acted as head coaches on different occasions, with the former heading the team during Asian Games.

Muzumdar's appointment comes at a time when India are looking to build a strong team for next year's T20 World Cup and the home ODI World Cup in 2025. "The next two years are extremely important as two World Cups are scheduled in the period. Together with the coaching and support staff, we will look to tick every box and give ourselves the best chance to succeed," Muzumdar said in a statement released by BCCI.

Anant Jeet misses out on quota, wins team gold

ENS @Chennai

SKEET shooter Anant Jeet Singh Naruka missed out on an Olympic quota by a whisker after finishing fourth in the men's skeet final in the ongoing Asian Championships in Changwon on Wednesday.

The in-form shooter, who had captured a silver medal at the Asian Games, finished with a tally of 33 in the six-man final. Kim Minsu of Korea and Chinese Taipei's Lee Meng Yuan, who finished second and third, respectively won the two quotas on offer instead. Al-Athiba Rashid Saleh, who pocketed the gold medal, had already secured the quota before entering the continental event.

It's a mighty heartbreak for Anant Jeet and India as earlier in the day, the women counterparts had failed to challenge for the quotas.

The only consolation for Anant Jeet and Gurjoat Khangura, who was also in contention for a quota and finished sixth, is the team gold.

Crystal Water Kayaking

SERENADING THE SEYCHELLES

Sprinkled with rich biodiversity and unique culture, the azure waters of these islands are just the beginning of this story of a tropical paradise...

Folk art form of Seychelles

SRUSHTI KULKARNI

SUN, sand and sea — Seychelles goes far beyond picture-perfect postcard beaches blessed with azure waters and hidden marine treasures. Nestled in the crystal-clear waters of the Indian Ocean, this archipelago of 110 islands, is a dream destination boasting a harmonious blend of breathtaking nature reserves and a rich Creole cultural tapestry, all of which unfold on the popular islands of Mahé, Praslin and La Digue. Home to the famous Coco de Mer — a palm tree that bears the world's largest seed — and the rare black parrot, Seychelles is one of the few island countries where one can island hop by simply boarding a ferry that's available several times throughout the day or fly Air Seychelles.

Aldabra Giant Tortoises

Hermit Crab

Stroll through the charming streets of Victoria, the capital city of the largest and most populous island, Mahé, which is a melting pot of French, English and Creole influences evident in the traditional architecture and cuisine. Come October, the annual Kreol Moutya, which is a prominent festival in Seychelles' cultural calendar, transforms Beau Vallon into a colourful carnival of everything Creole for a week, appealing to all age groups and interests. The event is the best way to experience the raw fusion of traditional language, folk art forms and a flashy fashion show.

Don't miss the internationally acclaimed local artist George Camille's gallery where many of his artworks capturing the vibrancy of the laid-back local life and the green carpet enveloping this minuscule African country. What is in it for alcohol connoisseurs you ask? We 'Sey'-Brew and Takamaka! Both proudly Seychellois, are the oldest brewery and rum-makers (respectively) in the country and since they don't export to India, it might just be the perfect souvenir to take back home.

Moutya Dance

Cycling across La Digue

Praslin, the second-largest island, is a paradise for beach lovers. Anse Lazio and Anse Georgette are often ranked among the world's most beautiful beaches, with their powdery white sands and clear turquoise waters. But Praslin is not just about beaches; it's also about the serene embrace of the Vallee de Mai Nature Reserve, a UNESCO World Heritage site that offers a glimpse into prehistoric lattanyen palm forests, tree frogs, wolf snake and centuries-old Coco de Mer tree (known as grandpa) that still stands tall.

Cycle away at La Digue, the jewel of Seychelles — a recommendation of every local. It's a car-free haven where you can feed gentle giants — the Aldabra Giant Tortoises at the L'Union Estate, climb marvellous monolith granite cliffs and if you are fortunate enough, catch a glimpse of the Black Paradise Flycatcher, a rare bird species found only in Seychelles. All this, before everybody ends up at one of the world's most photographed beaches — Anse Source d'Argent, renowned for its colossal granite boulders and crystal-clear kayaking excursions. But above all, one cannot end their trip to this island without having a scoop of vanilla ice cream. Trust us, it will be the best you've tasted so far because the spice is sourced from local vanilla plantations.

And if your focus is food then let us walk you through the complex history of Creole's culinary traditions shaped by a mix of African, European, Native American and, in some cases, Asian influences before we dive head first into the list containing everything from restaurants and cafés to hot curries and locally sourced seafood that are not to be missed. Originated in the colonies of the Caribbean, Latin America and the southern United States during the period of European colonization and the African slave trade, the term Creole originally referred to people of European descent born in the colonies and then the cuisine, which is known for its iconic dishes, which include gumbo, jambalaya, étouffée, red beans and rice. These dishes often feature a combination of spices, herbs, meats, seafood and vegetables and surprisingly taste very similar to Indian food. Circling back to the suggestions — Marie Antoinette on Serret Road is your go-to place for octopus curry and parrot fish fritters while Café Des Arts on Anse Volbert serves comforting Creole roasted pumpkin soup. Fish Trap at La Digue is for calamari and chocolate molleaux while Mabuya on Anse Lazio for all kinds of seafood salads. Bon Appétit!

Trek down old British Raj paths in Himachal!

HIMACHAL Pradesh is the ideal destination if you're thinking of the perfect vacation in the midst of nature, walking through foggy meadows and inhaling pine-scented air beneath an open sky. The Himachal Pradesh Government is now encouraging trekking in the woods as part of its initiative to open doors of ecotourism in the state to provide people a chance to unwind far from the madding crowds or urban India.

To give trekking enthusiasts a taste of the past, the Himachal government is creating trekking routes and revitalising old mule paths utilised under the British Raj. The best choice, according to representatives of the Forest Department, is to hike to Shali Tibba, which offers a view of the capital of Himachal Pradesh, Shimla and a spectacular 360-degree view of the nearby Himalayan peaks and vistas.

The gorgeous Kullu, Lahaul and Spiti Valleys also provide professional mountaineers with demanding terrains for multi-day or multi-week treks, which can be a major source of revenue for the local population.

The majority of the summits, which range in elevation from 4,000 to 6,000 metres, are yet to be conquered. Trekkers will be required to register before setting out on their excursions under the new regulations. As an additional requirement for their protection, tracking devices will be given to them. In the event of an emergency, this will allow for quick tracking and ensure prompt assistance. Additionally, to further improve safety, the Forest Department will provide hikers with the services of qualified guides. — Agencies

Europe to introduce new travel requirements in early 2025

If you're dreaming of a European getaway in 2025, get ready for some changes. The European Union is set to roll out new travel document requirements in the first half of that year, known as The European Travel Information and Authorization System (ETIAS). Under the ETIAS program, travellers will need to provide essential information like their name, date of birth, nationality and passport details prior to their journey. They'll also need to answer a few questions about their travel plans and health history. It's crucial to note that ETIAS is not a visa, but it is mandatory for all visa-exempt travelers before departing for Europe by air or sea.

Here's how you can visit six Arabian countries in one go!

The Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) is set to introduce a unified Gulf tourist visa, offering access to six countries. Minister of Economy, Abdullah bin Touq Al Marri, unveiled the plan, with a roll-out expected between 2024 and 2025. This new initiative aims to boost tourism and foster economic cooperation in the Gulf region. The UAE is gearing up for the influx of travelers, unveiling a seven-emirate tourist route, perfectly aligning with the new visa. This initiative aligns with the GCC's 2030 tourism strategy, set to enhance GDP contributions through increased inter-GCC travel and elevated hotel occupancy rates.

Railways introduces Vistadome in Kashmir

KASHMIR, where mountains are kissed goodbye at dawn and lakes act as mirrors for the pristine morning skies, is a state that almost every traveller has on of their bucket list. And if you are one amongst them then we have some news that would certainly evoke that feeling of wanderlust in you. Vistadome, a luxurious train coach that offers 360-degree views of a train journey, has finally arrived in India's 'Paradise on Earth.'

It is an advanced and modern-day locomotive marvel that took over the tourism scene last year and now, it is all set to take you through the stunning terrains of the valley. As per reports, the all-weather glass-ceiling AC Vistadome coaches have been deployed from the Banihal route in South Kashmir to the Budgam route in Central Kashmir. The 31-passenger coach will halt at four stations namely Srinagar, Awantipura, Anantnag and Qazigund.

Flagged off last Thursday, October 19 by J&K Lieutenant Governor Manoj Sinha who also addressed the gathering at the inauguration, the opulent features of the new coaches manufactured by the Indian Railways come with rotational seats, charging points, automatic doors with sensors and transparent glass roofs to offer a panoramic view of the valley's breathtaking landscapes. Elaborating on the same, a railway official said, "Passengers will have the opportunity to embark on a breathtaking journey through the picturesque landscapes of Kashmir while enjoying the comfortable and visually immersive facilities." — Agencies

Alia Bhatt re-wore her wedding saree to receive her first National Award. While the actor's choice of outfit has been lauded, many Bengalureans who have been following the trend share hacks of repeating

DRAPE WITH A DIFFERENCE

MONIKA MONALISA

ALIA Bhatt got the Best Actress award at the 69th National Film Awards in Delhi for her performance in Sanjay Leela Bhansali's Gangubai. For the special moment, she picked a 'special outfit' and in her words, as penned on Instagram, she wrote, 'A special day calls for a special outfit. And sometimes that outfit is already right there.' Bhatt chose to re-wear her wedding attire, an ivory and gold Sabyasachi saree.

While Bhatt did it only now, many Bengalureans have been following it as a practice. Entrepreneur Mehak Kukkar-Mehra wore an ivory and black Sabyasachi lehenga for her sangeet function in 2012. Though heavily embellished with fine threadwork, Kukkar-Mehra managed to find different ways to reuse her lehenga. "I have worn the lehnga multiple times at other weddings and recently during a Deepavali celebration where I substituted the heavy choli (blouse) with a plain black raw silk blouse. This lehenga was an investment and looks and feels even better each time I wear it," she says.

Something similar Akshitha Basavaraju, a fitness expert did with her wedding reception lehenga. "I reused it for another family function after a decade. I dress it down with other elements so I don't go very heavy on the jewellery or go overboard with the hairstyle. The jewellery is toned down compared to what I wore for my wedding," she says.

In South India, it's not too uncommon to reuse the wedding Kanjeevaram saree and nutritionist Gauravi Vinay says she was clear she wanted to pick something she could reuse. "Traditionally we are supposed to wear green. I kept the blouse for my mahurtham saree simple to maintain its relevance. So I can rewear the blouse now with it looking classic," she says.

RENEW THE LOOK

The easiest way to revamp your wedding look is to change the blouse with a contrasting or pastel shade.

If you have invested in a heavy blouse, team it with a light fabric saree.

If the saree has heavy work, keep the jewellery minimal

Aakar Innovations Unveils Anandi Athletic
INDIA'S PIONEERING COMPOSTABLE SANITARY PADS

Anandi Athletic, a range of sanitary napkins invented and manufactured by Aakar Innovations, a social enterprise company, is India's first and only certified sanitary pads that are ~100% compostable and backed by patented technology. This new range of sanitary napkins was launched in Bengaluru, in the presence of Julia Morley, CEO of Miss World Organisation, Karolina Bielawska, Miss World 2022, and Sini Shetty, Miss India 2022.

Through their revolutionary technology, Aakar Innovations has curated sustainable period care products, free of harmful chemicals and plastics. This makes it good for the health of women and the planet. Its products are free from artificial dyes and fragrances, plastics, dioxin, and other materials that contain carcinogens, making them comfortable to use and easy and safe to dispose of.

Anandi Athletic is currently priced at Rs.65 for 7 XL pads and Rs. 80 for 7 XXL pads. They are now available across more than 100 retail stores in Bengaluru. Anandi Athletic pads will be in retail stores across the state of Karnataka soon.

On the occasion, Jaydeep Mandal, the founder of Aakar Innovations, said, "When we look at it in the long run, our aim at Aakar Innovations is to raise awareness and sensitise people on menstrual hygiene management, and to figure out how we can make sanitary pads healthier, accessible and affordable for all women and sustainable for the environment. Anandi Athletic is one such product that is our solution to all of these concerns. Besides, our sale contributes to expanding menstrual hygiene education and providing pads to needy women & girls."

Sini Shetty, Miss India 2022, Julia Morley, CEO of Miss World Organisation, Karolina Bielawska, Miss World 2022, and Jaydeep Mandal, the founder of Aakar Innovations during the launch.

Ensuring Comfort

Anandi Athletic has been launched with the intention of bringing compostable sanitary pads to a broader range of women. The product is particularly suited to meet the needs of today's women, who pursue their personal and professional dreams fearlessly and should have fewer worries about the choice of sanitary napkins. The product ensures safety and hygiene and provides comfort with its ultra-thin and multi-layer protection, soft top layer, and breathable back layer altogether.

An environment-friendly product

Anandi pads are India's first and certified compostable pads that return to the soil as manure within 3 to 6 months under composting conditions and are a green value-addition. Each pad turns into 40-50 grams of compost in the soil and can be used as manure later. The product is not only good for the body but also good for the environment.

Safety and Hygiene of women as the topmost priority

Anandi Athletic pads hold the promise to protect women from rashes, irritation, allergies, and other critical diseases and disorders that may arise due to the use of harsh chemicals as superabsorbent materials. Conventional plastic pads are made with multiple harmful chemicals like toxins, sodium polyacrylate (Gel/SAP), fragrances, synthetics, etc., and also with plastics.

On the other hand, Anandi pads are made with bio-based materials and are verified as skin-friendly. Anandi pads introduced bio super-absorbent in sanitary pads for adequate absorbency and its pads are verified to be rash-free through Cytotoxicity testing ISO 10993.

Aakar Innovations

Aakar is a hybrid social enterprise comprising Aakar Innovations and Aakar Social Ventures. The group has over the past 12 years created a significant impact through menstrual hygiene and health awareness while also manufacturing and distributing affordable, high-quality, ~100% compostable sanitary napkins. Aakar's mission is to provide commercially viable solutions for the production, distribution, marketing, and sales of "environment-friendly" and "affordable" "Women's Hygiene Products" for women's health and empowerment. Aakar conducts research and development and its cutting-edge technology-led innovations are able to convert natural waste to wealth by using indigenous raw materials such as jute, bagasse, water hyacinth, banana fiber, and more to create absorbent materials for sanitary pads, demonstrating not only its commitment to sustainable period care products but also promoting a circular economy.

JOINT STORY

Here's how to recognise and manage early onset of arthritis in young adults

DR RAVIKUMAR MUKARTIHAL

Arthritis, commonly associated with aging, can affect people of all ages, including young adults. When arthritis strikes at a young age, it can be challenging to navigate the physical, emotional, and social aspects of life. However, with the right knowledge and support, young people can effectively manage their arthritis and lead fulfilling lives.

Early-onset arthritis is also known as juvenile arthritis and affects children younger than 16 years of age. They are usually inflammatory in nature and symptoms may vary in duration from a few weeks to months depending on the type of inflammatory arthritis. Other cause of arthritis in young are post traumatic causes and post infective causes.

The symptoms often vary in the case of juvenile arthritis but one should immediately address it if the symptoms include joint pain, stiffness, and swelling. Young adults often overlook the symptoms thinking it may be overuse or stress and often delays proper diagnosis and treatment. In this pursuit, the integration of the latest technologies, such as robotics and clinical technology into orthopaedics has proven to be a game-changer

Measures that can make juvenile arthritis easier to deal with

Diagnosis and Early Intervention

People who are diagnosed with early-onset arthritis should go through a comprehensive evaluation by an experienced physician who is a specialist in autoimmune and inflammatory conditions. Early diagnosis will allow timely intervention, that will prevent joint damage and improve long-term outcomes. Diagnostic tools such as blood tests, imaging studies and physical examinations aid in confirming the condition.

Treatment Choices

Arthritis can be managed through a combination of medications, physical therapy, and lifestyle modification. Taking proper medications prescribed by an experienced physician will help to control inflammation and slow the disease progression. Going through physical therapy will improve joint mobility and reduce pain. Changes in lifestyle like maintaining a healthy weight and avoiding smoking can positively impact the condition.

Leveraging Advanced Technology

Both conventional and robotic-assisted surgeries have transformed orthopaedic operations by providing good outcomes. But robotic-assisted surgeries have an unrivalled precision and minimal invasiveness and conservation of bone during primary surgery. All these factors have a delayed advantage during revision surgeries. These technologies help in implant placement, which leads to better joint function and lifetime. They also aid in the tailoring of treatment programmes, assuring the best possible outcomes for each patient.

Wearable devices and mobile apps, for example, enable patients to actively participate in their arthritis therapy. These gadgets provide real-time information on joint health, pain levels, and physical activity, enabling individualised treatment and modifications. Furthermore, telemedicine technologies enable remote consultations, making arthritis care more accessible to young individuals.

The incorporation of modern innovations into orthopaedics is a critical step in diagnosing and managing young adult arthritis. These improvements enhance surgical precision and empower patients to participate in their care, ultimately enhancing their general well-being and outlook for the future. Embracing these advancements is critical for persons dealing with the challenges of early-onset arthritis.

Manvitha Kamath joins the cast of Lohith's Capture

The actor plays Priyanka Upendra's daughter in this horror film

CE FEATURES

Manvitha Kamath, known for her role in Tagaru and last seen in Shiva 143, has joined Priyanka Upendra in Lohith H's latest film, Capture. The actor will be portraying a significant character as Priyanka's daughter. The film marks her first project in horror.

Manvitha, who has filmed her portions alongside Priyanka in Goa, expressed her excitement, saying, "This is my first horror film. Initially, I was apprehensive about working in this genre, but I accepted the role because it offered me a compelling character. We spent 15 days shooting in Goa, and I thoroughly enjoyed collaborating with Priyanka Upendra." She adds, "While shooting, everything felt fine, but I have to admit that I got a little scared when I returned home."

Capture will be the third collaboration between Priyanka and Lohith H after Mummy - Save Me and Devaki, Manvitha's first collaboration with the director. What makes the film intriguing is that the entire film is shot from the perspective of a CCTV, a first of its kind in Indian cinema.

Capture is produced by Ravi Raj under Shri Durgaparameshwari Production. The film is currently in the post-production phase and is scheduled for release in November.

'I AM STILL A VILLAGE BOY AT HEART'

...says Nagabhushana, as he shares his thoughts about his upcoming film Tagaru Palya, which he considers to be a celebration of relationships

A SHARADHAA

Nagabhushana, known for his unique style as an actor, doesn't fit the typical mass hero mould. Instead, he captivates audiences with his punchlines and humour. Notable examples of his work include roles in Ikkat and Shashank's Kousalya Supraja Rama, among many others. Nagabhushana acknowledges that he isn't pursuing mass hero roles. "I am an actor, who can do comedy. Making people laugh is a significant contribution, and I'm glad there's ample room to explore such subjects with actors who specialize in them. I also believe that films of senior artists like Anant Nag and Lokesh, which offered family-friendly and humorous content, are missing, and I hope to fill that space."

The actor sees Tagaru Palya as his emergence as a full-fledged hero. The comedy-drama, set to release on October 27, has garnered significant attention through its promotions. "When director Umesh Krupa narrated the story to Dhananjay, who is producing this film, he considered casting fresh faces and senior actors Tara and Rangayana Raghu. However, after going through the casting process, Umesh felt I was the best fit and considered me for the role, which I gladly accepted. Then came Prem's daughter Amrutha, who is marking her debut through this film," he says.

Speaking about Tagaru Palya in a nutshell, Nagabhushana says, "The film is a celebration of relationships and family bonding. It also explores the challenges faced by farmers, presented through the lens of cinema. The film's unique slang adds authenticity to the storytelling."

Hailing from a village, Nagabhushana easily connected with his role in Tagaru Palya. "I am still a village boy at heart. Even today, when I return to my hometown, I dress and behave like the people in the village. Playing a character rooted in my background was a dream come true," he says, adding, "The film is a fun entertainer with an underlying message, this made my performance even more enjoyable."

Comedy and dialogue writing plays an essential role in the characters portrayed by Nagabhushana. "I enjoy delivering punch dialogues and I believe in adding my own thoughts to them. It's crucial that my dialogue feels natural, as I cannot merely memorize lines, and deliver them as it is. I strive to make the dialogues my own and maintain authenticity throughout the scenes and the film as a whole," he says.

Regarding his friend Dhananjay's support in his career growth, who has produced this film under his Daali Pictures banner, Nagabhushana says, "We are actors, but our paths differ. However, Dhananjay's support means a lot to me. I appreciate the fact that Dhananjay understands my capabilities as an actor and my individual achievements."

Nagabhushana

Dhananjay along with team Tagaru Palya

I WANT TO CONNECT WITH THE AUDIENCE THROUGH CAPTIVATING STORIES: DHANANJAY

"I aim to share compelling narratives through my production house, Daali Pictures, where I have the privilege of collaborating with talented directors and actors. When Umesh K Krupa presented the story, I was attracted by the potential of Tagaru Palaya and was sure that it would resonate with the audience. Umesh's abilities as a writer and director are evident, making him a valuable addition to the industry. This motivated me to produce the film. Regarding my friend Nagabhushan's inclusion, it was entirely the director's decision. His fluency in the Mandya Malavalli dialect was essential for this project, and he has pulled off the role with elan."

My role as a domestic help will be unique in Phoenix: Nimika Ratnakar

CE FEATURES

Director Om Prakash Rao's upcoming film Phoenix, is all set to begin shooting on October 26, and a simple muhurat ceremony has been planned to be held today. Known for his mass films like Lockup Death, Huchcha, AK 47, Kalasipalya, and Ayya, Om Prakash is delving into a female-centric subject with Phoenix. Before commencing the shooting, the makers unveiled the first looks of Nimika Ratnakar. While some of these looks depict the actor in a goddess avatar, released on the occasion of Dasara, one look showcases her as a domestic helper, holding a broom in one hand and a knife in the other.

Speaking about her role, Nimika Ratnakar states, "My goddess avatar is just a part of the film. The entire story is based on true events and is a crime thriller, executed in Om Prakash's signature style, featuring mass elements. I portray a domestic helper. Essentially, the film's message is about the triumph of good, and the goddess avatar poster is a symbolic representation, but the film is not devotional. This role is different for me because I typically play glamorous characters, and this role has a unique portrayal," she says.

In addition to Nimika Ratnakar, Om Prakash Rao's 49th film also features Kritika Lobo, Jagadish, Bhaskar Shetty, Pratap, Vinod, Swastik Shankar, and Anil Kumar in pivotal roles. The film also marks the return of Pradeep Rawat to Kannada cinema, and he plays the antagonist.

Phoenix is produced by Trisha Prakash under the Sirigiguru Chitralaya banner, with Sadhukokila handling the music direction and Ravikumar serving as the cinematographer. The production team plans to shoot the first extensive schedule in Bengaluru overa period of 25 days.

Phoenix marks Nimika Ratnakar's second collaboration with Om Prakash after Trishulam, which stars Upendra and Ravi Chandran.
